Fans were banned from the Tokyo Olympics which will open in two weeks, following a state of emergency announced on Thursday, Olympic Minister Tamayo Marukawa told news agency Kyodo. ₹23K cr package to tackle third wave

First Cabinet meet seeks to learn from past errors, aims to create better public health infra

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

HAVING burnt its fingers because of sluggish response during the initial stages of the Covid second wave, the first meeting of the recast Cabinet presided by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday sought to quickly address challenges from the anticipated third wave by rustling up a ₹23,123 crore healthcare package.

The package aims to create paediatric units in all 736 districts because of the apprehension that the third wave could affect children. The Centre also intends to build synergy with state governments while implementing the package as against the policy of passing the buck to states during the second wave.

Union Health and Family Welfare Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said the Centre and states will work as a team to implement the package between July and March, for which consultations will be held with each state government on ways to strengthen their medical infrastructure. The nine-month span is the upper limit for executing the plan, he assured. Mandaviya stressed that the government will expedite work on addressing critical issues based on the lessons learnt from the second wave.

The ₹23,123 crore package is a follow up to the ₹15,000 crore package provided by the Centre last year to deal with the first wave of the pandemic. Making it clear that the government does not want to take any chances with the third wave, Mandaviya said the spread and sweep of the package will include creation of field hospitals with 5,000 bed capacities, ICU and oxygen beds, buffer stock of critical medicines worth ₹1 crore in each district and setting up 10,000 litre oxygen plants.

Also, the Centre will work with states for uniformity in the manner in which trained human resources like resident doctors, interns, final-year MBBS students and paramedics are roped in for emergency services for a fixed duration with standardised compensation.

The plan includes augmenting 20,000 ICU beds in the public healthcare system, out of which 20% will be reserved for children. For rural, peri-urban and tribal areas, "creating prefabricated structures for adding additional beds at the existing CHCs, PHCs and SHCs (6-20 bedded units) and support would also be provided to establish bigger field hospitals (50-100 bedded units) depending on the needs at tier-II or Tier-III cities and district HQs" will be part of the package.

OUTREACH TO RESTIVE FARMERS

The Union Cabinet also sought to address concerns of the agitating farmers by allowing inclusion of the Agriculture Produce Marketing Cooperatives (mandis) in the ₹1 lakh crore interest subvention scheme unveiled in the Union Budget for creation of agriculture infrastructure | P9

Vax, booster should be different: Expert

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WHILE the jury is still out on how long antibodies produced after vaccination will remain in the body, several countries are talking of booster doses to beat the highly transmissible, emerging variants of SARS-COV-2, like the Delta variant. However, former head of the Indian SARS-CoV-2 Consortium on Genomics (INSACOG) and virologist, Dr Shahid Jameel, told TNIE that there is a need for more studies on this front in India. He said booster doses of the same adenovirus vaccines may not be a good idea and that the country should either try a new combination of vaccines as booster doses, or wait for more studies.

According to Dr Jameel, "From a virological and immunological point of view, it may not be a good idea to give a booster dose of an adenovirus vaccine. The reason simply is that adenoviruses are very highly immonogenic and our body, after two doses, will have already produced a lot of antibodies against the adenovirus background. Hence, a third booster dose of the same vaccine is not likely to be very effective." P3

BIG TECH TROUBLE

GOVT FREE TO GO AFTER TWITTER: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Delhi High Court on Thursday said the Centre was free to initiate action against Twitter in accordance with the IT rules in case it had breached them. Parallelly, new Union information technology minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said the law of the land is supreme, adding those who live and work in India have to abide by the country's rules.

Justice Rekha Palli granted two weeks to Twitter to file hard copies of the notarised affidavit of a competent officer on compliance with the new rules.

"It is made clear that since this court has only granted time to Twitter to file its affidavits to show compliance of the rules and there is no interim protection granted, it will be open for the Union of India to take action against Twitter in accordance with rules in case of any breach of the rules," the court said, while slating the case for next hearing on July 28.

For its part, Twitter said it was not seeking any protection. The microblogging site said it has appointed a resident of India as its interim Chief Compliance Officer effective July 6. Regarding the Nodal Contact Officer, it will try to fill the position on an interim basis in two weeks. And the process of hiring an interim Resident Grievance Officer is expected to over be by July 11, it informed. While the appointments are interim, it would not lessen the responsibilities imposed on those officers to ensure compliance with the new IT Rules, Twitter assured. Twitter also told the court that its first compliance report covering the period of May 26 to June 25 will be filed by July 11. P9

FB CAN'T SKIP DELHI RIOTS PANEL: SC

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

STRESSING that social media platforms should show accountability towards its users, the Supreme Court on Thursday said the Delhi Assembly can seek information from Facebook and its officials in connection with their alleged role in the 2020 Delhi Riots. However, the Assembly's Peace and Harmony committee would have no jurisdiction over issues like law and order of Delhi, which comes under the Central government.

"Because of the nature of the riots, the Assembly without transgressing into any field of the Union under 7th Schedule can look into the issue," a three-judge bench of the court said.

Hearing a plea by Facebook India against the summons issued by the committee to its head Ajit Mohan, the bench, while calling it premature, stated he must appear before the committee, but his representative can choose not to answer questions outside of the Assembly's domain.

The bench said social media platforms like Facebook have the power and potential to influence people across borders, and debates and posts on them have the potential to polarise the society as most people do not have the wherewithal to verify the content.

"The capital can ill-afford any repetition of the occurrence, and thus, the role of Facebook in this context must be looked into by the powers that be. It is in this background that the Assembly sought to constitute a Peace and Harmony committee. It cannot be said that its concerns were misconceived or illegitimate," the court said in its 188-page judgment. P9

IISc RESEARCH INITIATIVES GET PM's THUMBS UP

Institute proposes plan to set up PG med school & research hospital to Modi

Prime Minister Narendra Modi during a video conference with directors of centrally funded technical institutions | EXPRESS

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

THE Indian Institute of Science, Bengaluru, is looking to set up a PG medical school and research hospital and has proposed this to Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Director G Rangarajan highlighted the plan while exhibiting the institute's efforts towards handling Covid-19 and the major research and development, along with new teaching initiatives.

Modi pointed out in his tweet on Thursday that the IISc emphasised on the need to give importance to health in the Aatmanirbhar Bharat vision. He also acknowledged the Covid-19 initiatives of IISc.

In a tweet, the PM called the presentation on R&D initiatives in areas like robotics, efforts in education such as training maths/science teachers, and Covid work, as 'interesting'.

Among the innovations at institute in response to Covid-19, is the diagnostics and surveillance that include Karnataka state Covid serosurvey, CovidWATCH: rapid monitoring tool for regions with low smartphone penetration and hospital assistive devices, including the 3D-printed valves for split use of ventilators to serve multiple patients.

The institute also hosts researchers working on modeling, simulation and analysis for the pandemic. Researchers are also working on a recombinant sub-unit vaccine for SARS-CoV-2, to develop a rapidly producible vaccine for protection to frontline health workers, senior citizens and individuals with comorbidities.

The interaction with the IISc director was part of the the video conference with directors of centrally-funded technical institutions, where more than 100 heads of institutions are said to have joined.

Union Minister for Education and Minister of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, Dharmendra Pradhan, was also present.

Modi is said to have informed the directors to adapt higher education and technical education to the changing environment and emerging challenges, which require them to reinvent and re-evaluate themselves, develop alternative and innovative models in accordance with the present and future needs of the country and society.

Emphasis was also given to digitisation of higher education towards increasing gross enrolment ratio.

College lecturers told to return to work

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

IN order to prepare for colleges to reopen for offline classes, lecturers from aided and government college have now been asked to return to work. A top official from the department confirmed this and a department circular was also sent to lecturers regarding this. The higher education department has quoted 100 per cent capacity in workspaces for government offices, and asked all teaching and non-teaching staff of government and private aided degree colleges to compulsorily attend college work. College lecturers, however hoped that physically challenged and those pregnant are given exemptions, President of Karnataka Government College Teachers Association (KGCTA) T M Manjunath told TNIE. This exemption was not explicitly stated in the department's circular, he added. Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan had earlier set July 7 as a tentative deadline for students to be vaccinated and a leeway of a few more days to universities to ensure the same.

> Announcements regarding reopening of colleges are expected in the coming weeks
> Pradeep P, Commissioner of Department of Collegiate Education

In a statement on Thursday, he said that the date to start degree colleges has not yet been decided at the governmental level. Right now, he said the government is focused on vaccination of students above the age of 18 years.

"The reopening dates will be announced after consultation with all stakeholders," he said, adding that 65 per cent of students have been vaccinated till now. Meanwhile Pradeep P, Commissioner of Department of Collegiate Education said that announcements about reopening of colleges are expected in the coming week.

I-Day 2022: City's govt school will be part of project to launch 75 satellites

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Students of Government Boys High School in Malleswaram, Bengaluru will be part of the project to launch 75 satellites, to celebrate India's 75 years of independence next year, Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan said on Thursday.

He claimed it to be the first government school in India to be a part of such an endeavour, which could not be independently verified.

The designing and making of the satellite will be at the school level he said, adding that it would be done with the help of Bengaluru-based technology promoting Indian Technological Congress Association (ITCA) and the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO). Besides, students from some other government schools will also be part of the project to build the satellite at Government Boys' High School, Malleswaram, Ashwath Narayan said.

A total of 75 tiny satellites developed by students will be launched in batches by ISRO. The plan was conceived by ITCA which has formed a consortium of 40 engineering colleges, besides students from this school.

Ashwath Narayan, in a release issued by his office said, "Usually, engineering college students are involved in such projects. Now, this is going to be achieved in a government high school, by taking the help of the Indian Technological Congress Association and ISRO."

The ITCA is firming up launch contracts with ISRO for the mission that is termed as "75 Student Mission Satellites 2022", according to ITCA.

Ashwath Narayan also said that in recent days, the enrolment in some government schools has witnessed an increase, but pointed out that the quality of teaching and learning is more important than the numbers.

Government educational institutions should compete with private institutions in terms of providing quality education, he added.

₹15,000 crore for rejuvenation of Vrishabhavati valley

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A total of ₹15,000 will be spent on desilting and cleaning up Vrishabhavathi valley over a period of five years, Environment and Tourism Minister C P Yogeeshwara said on Thursday.

After visiting the valley at various sites, including Gali Anjaneyaswamy Temple and Byramangala lake in Bidadi, with KSPCB, Irrigation Department, BWSSB and BBMP officials, Yogeeshwara said, at present the sewage treatment plant (STP) is of two levels and the water which goes downstream towards Byramanagala Lake is not fit for agriculture purpose. Hence, a third level of treatment should also be set up. He said it has been decided to set up a 1,500 MLD STP using scientific methods so that the treated water can be used for many purposes, including agriculture.

He told the ministers that if ₹1,500 crore is utilised well and the STPs are set up in a proper scientific manner then the treated water can also be used for drinking purposes. He directed the officials to present a detailed report of the plan ahead, in the meeting next week. The minister told the media that there was also a proposal to construct a STP in 600 acres land in Bangalore University campus, but the management was opposing it. "The STP water should be cleaned in such a way that it be used by apartment and residential complexes for other purposes too," he said.

Yogeeshwara said 3,304 industries are located along the valley, of which, 1,396 have so far found to be releasing effluents directly into the valley. "A Rs 250-crore Byramanagala lake rejuvenation project is also being taken up," the minster added.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

09th July: Today's Solar alignments are fantastic for people who are losing themselves in their imaginations, less good for individuals with practical tasks to perform. My advice is to take everything important one step at a time and only go on to the next stage after a thorough check - and a double-check!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)
If you're handling complex emotional situations, please be flexible and alter long-standing arrangements where necessary. Partners will come to appreciate your wisdom and maturity, with welcome results all round. Not only that, but they'll come to see that you were right.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)
Please enjoy your dreams but avoid all forms of intrigue and unconventional behaviour. This is a moment to keep your head below the parapet and stay away from risky situations. Peace and quiet are of the essence. But do be honest about your doubts, share them with partners and seek reassurance.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Ambitious Geminians are now well into a phase which emphasises the role of personal contacts. This means, as the old cliché runs, that who you know is at least as important as what you know, if not more so. And that means that you are ready for your next step.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You have every right to feel that others have not yet done their best. Wise and intelligent person that you are, you should be the one to offer an olive branch and hold out the hand of friendship. Financial questions should have been answered - at least for now. But they'll return as soon as conditions change.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Money matters are about to grab the headlines, not in any dramatic sense, just in the form of routine affairs that must be dealt with now before they get any worse. Keep up to date with all bills and loans, but query anything you don't actually think you owe.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Venus' motion today may not have immediate consequences. However, within the week you should become aware of new feelings, especially of a romantic nature. You will learn to appreciate qualities in loved ones that once annoyed you; it's amazing how you have changed!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You are loath to break the habits of a lifetime, but a charming relationship between Venus and Jupiter suggests that pleasing and harmonious conditions greet those who have done what must be done. It's all a question of making sure that you still have the common touch.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You must be prepared to involve colleagues and associates in your plans. Within an overall context of co-operation you will be able to make the most of your emotional intensity, determination and unparalleled leadership qualities. And that can't be bad!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
As time passes and the seasons turn, you should begin to plan your health regime. Clean up your diet - this doesn't mean eating less, just healthily - and take more exercise. Mercury, you see, is encouraging you to consider new ways of improving your lifestyle.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It looks as if someone is trying hard to pressurise you into making an early decision. However, you may smile and ignore their protestations. You will be on top in all discussions, negotiations and meetings. And your strong position is partly due to your past good judgments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
An unexpected turn of events may prompt you to alter plans or even change the whole direction of your life. The important consideration from your point of view is to take the initiative rather than wake up and discover that fate has taken your decisions for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You are now coming under Venus' glorious sway in an entirely new way, surely a sign that your social life and emotional morale are about to improve. Allow more time for pleasure, gratification and self-indulgence. This particular pattern peaks next week.

Nasal vaccines a gamechanger, can block virus at entry site

'In six to eight weeks, we expect cheaper nasal vaccines to be available'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

NASAL vaccine will be a gamechanger, best suited for vaccinating children against Covid-19. A single dose will suffice to stimulate the immune response, and there will be no hassle of taking an injection, Dr Rajinder Kumar Singal, senior director and HOD-internal medicine, BLK Max Hospital, Delhi, said during a panel discussion on 'Covid-19: Lessons Learnt and Planning Forward'.

"In six to eight weeks, we expect nasal vaccines to be available. They will be cheaper and will block the entrance site of the virus," said Dr Singal.

Agreeing with him, Professor and Padma Shri awardee Dr Mohan Kameswaran, Otorhinolaryngologist, founder, Madras ENT Research Foundation, Chennai, said nasal vaccines are ideal for India, where vaccine hesitancy is largely connected to getting an injection.

Doctors on the panel agreed that a booster dose will be needed against the coronavirus. This was confirmed through the results of a study done by Neuberg Diagnostics. Sharing details, Dr Bhavini Shah, director, Neuberg Centre of Genomic Medicine, Ahmedabad, said they tested antibody levels in people who did not get Covid before taking the vaccine, one month after taking the first dose, one month after the second dose, and three months after the second dose.

"In 40 % of the people who had never been infected by Covid, IgG antibody titres increased to 75-95 AU/ml range one month after taking the vaccine, after taking the second dose, the titres ranged between 175 and 200 AU/ml. However, after three months, it dropped from 200/190 AU/ml to 120. In those who had Covid-19, the antibodies were above 400 AU/ml. This indicates the need for a booster dose," Dr Shah said.

Both Dr Kameswaran and Dr Hemalata Arora, general physician and infectious disease specialist, Nanavati Max Super Speciality Hospital, Mumbai, said the chances of people developing mucormycosis (black fungus) post taking the vaccine, are lower.

"60 per cent to 70 per cent of the patients who came to me with black fungus had not taken the vaccine, 25-30 per cent had taken one dose and less than 5 per cent had taken both doses. Thus, people who have taken both doses have a good chance against Covid-19 infection, and are much less prone to black fungus," Dr Kameswaran said.

Dr Arora said the antibodies produced by the vaccine protect against Covid, complications, side-effects, blood clotting, secondary infections and mucormycosis too. "There are studies being done on using mRNA vaccines for booster doses rather than taking the same DNA vaccines we took the first and second time. Mixing might be more appropriate, though there may be some side-effects," Dr Arora added.

Studies needed before mixing vaccines: Doc

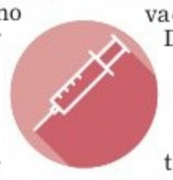
ALTHOUGH laboratory studies are yet to be conducted in this regard, Dr Jameel said the third dose of the same adenovirus vaccine is unlikely to do much. "Hence, the third dose, if required, has to be a different vaccine." The major vaccines used in India are Covishield and Covaxin, besides the Russian vaccine Sputnik-V, which is on a similar platform as Covishield.

Interestingly, in April, Bharat Biotech, the makers of India's Covaxin, got permission from the Drug Controller General of India to conduct trials for a third shot to be administered as a booster dose. The trial is ongoing with the first result likely to be out in August and the final one expected by November. According to Bharat Biotech's reports, the booster shot might become a yearly thing to keep the immune system at the optimum level.

Dr Jameel said the third shot of vaccine could be a combination of "either Covaxin, for those who have taken Covishield, or any other mRNA vaccine, or the protein vaccine. Novovax, which is being manufactured by Serum Institute of India (SII), has shown excellent results, so that could also be a right choice."



He said the government should wait for more scientific studies to be conducted before rushing in to mix and match vaccines, as existing ones have shown to be beneficial even against the new variants of concern. However, some other experts who are closely following the vaccine scenario, say that in the current situation, they see a potential for increasing vaccine-escape virus mutations. "The original blueprint of current vaccines has been using the D614G (mutant strain) and new variants could potentially overcome this in the coming months. Many companies have already been working towards a modified vaccine or a new one, too. This seems more of a possibility than a booster," said Dr Vishal Rao, Regional Director, Head Neck Surgical Oncology and Associate Dean, Centre of Academics and Research HCG Cancer Centre, who is also a member of the Covid-19 Genomic Surveillance Committee.

Train passengers from Kerala, Maha enter Mangaluru without checks

DIVYA CUTINHO @ Mangaluru

DESPITE the government sounding a high alert in the border districts in view of the 'Delta Plus' variant found in Kerala and Maharashtra, no measures are being taken at railway stations in Mangaluru to check passengers arriving from Kerala and Maharashtra, till now.

On July 1, the State government issued guidelines, making negative RT-PCR certificates not older than 72 hours or vaccination certificate of at least one dose mandatory for passengers coming to Karnataka by flight, bus, train, taxi, or personal transport.

Dakshina Kannada DC Dr Rajendra K V had earlier said that police, revenue and health officials will work 24x7 at all check-posts in the border areas, including the inter-state border at Talapady, and allow people to enter Dakshina Kannada only if they produce RT-PCR negative reports. Railway authorities were directed to ensure that all passengers from Kerala and Maharashtra carry negative RT-PCR certificates. However, people in the district have expressed concern that though the authorities are ensuring stricter border surveillance of people travelling by road and air, railway stations lack such measures. "Even after a week of sounding a high alert, no measures are being taken to monitor people travelling by train. Scores of people travel by train for education, business, health and other purposes. Restrictions have been eased and the administration should ensure proper surveillance of train passengers so that the district does not suffer further due to the 'Delta Plus' variant," said an activist from the city.

DHO Dr Kishore Kumar told TNIE that the department is facing shortage of staff, and the available teams are already on Covid duty. "However, we have formed a separate team which will start Covid-19 testing at two railway stations from Friday in Mangaluru. We have written to the railway department to deploy the medical team for this purpose," he said.

BJP LAYS GROUND FOR 2023 POLL IN K'TAKA

Party sends message with its choice of 4 ideological hardliners from state as Union ministers

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru

IN the induction of the four MPs from Karnataka into the Union council of ministers, the BJP has gone beyond the obvious caste and regional representation balance. While the four MPs - A Narayanaswamy, Shobha Karandlaje, Bhagwanth Khuba and Rajeev Chandrashekar - may differ when it comes to caste, region of representation, duration of party membership etc., a common thread is the push for Hindutva and ultranationalism.

These two components are set to be the BJP's poll pitch in Karnataka in the next Assembly and Lok Sabha elections. All four ministers are unapologetic ideological hardliners of the BJP and that is the message the party is hoping to get across to its cadres and voters.

Hours before she took oath as MoS for Agriculture in the Union Cabinet on Wednesday, Shobha Karandlaje deleted all her tweets. Her Twitter account, which was created in 2010, now has only some 15 tweets. Before the cleansing, Karandlaje's handle was filled with provocative tweets, interspersed with photos of her work and engagements.

Her tweet from 2017 alleging "torture" of a Hindu youth, Paresh Mesta, at the hands of "jihadis" got her national headlines. Her elaborate claims of torture were refuted by forensic experts and the case was eventually transferred to the CBI which is still investigating the matter. In another instance, an FIR was filed against her for communal incitement.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

> The next election will see a Hindu consolidation again. Our core poll pitches will be Hindutva, nationalism and development
> BJP office-bearer

In 2020, Bidar MP Bhagwanth Khuba grabbed headlines after he asked the State Government to "blacklist" a school for staging a play against the Citizenship Amendment Act. Khuba backed the sedition charges against the parents of students in the play and teachers of the school as well as the police interrogation of the minor students. In March that year, a sessions court granted bail to all accused and held that the play was prima facie not seditious.

A Narayanaswamy, although never caught making communally charged remarks, is a staunch RSS karyakarta who puts his 'Hindu' identity above his Scheduled Caste identity.

Rajeev Chandrasekhar, who shot to prominence in Kerala during the Sabarimala temple row, as a defender of Hindu traditions, is also an ultra-nationalist who has defended the BJP's Hindu appeasement policies as the party's national spokesperson.

Senior members of the party suggest that the thinking behind these choices has a lot to do with what the BJP intends to go to the people with, in the next elections - Hindutva, nationalism and development.

"All of them are ideological strongmen. They have been unabashed about their Hindu identity. It was only in 2008, when JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy refused to hand over power, that Lingayats became a dedicated factor in BJP poll victories, but that also led to the loss of votes from other Hindu communities. Before that, it was always a consolidated Hindu voter base - even when we were winning seats in just double digits. The next election will see a Hindu consolidation again. Our core poll pitches will be Hindutva, nationalism and development," said a senior office-bearer of the party.

The move comes at a time the party in Karnataka is desperately attempting to shake off the image that elections can be won only under Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's leadership.

Modi picks SC members, delivers 'social justice'

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Tumakuru

WITH the inclusion of Chitradurga MP Anekal Narayanaswamy as Minister of State, the BJP think-tank appears to be looking at keeping the SC (left) vote bank in Karnataka intact. This section reportedly voted in favour of the party in the 2018 assembly polls and 2019 Lok Sabha polls as well.

Govind Karjol, who hails from SC (left) category, has already been made Deputy Chief Minister, and now the Modi government has made another quick move by giving representation to a member of the same community in the Union cabinet. When BJP won the Sira bypoll, both Karjol and Narayanaswamy had played key roles in wooing the community's votes.

Additionally, appointing Thawar Chand Gehlot, also belonging to SC, as governor of Karnataka, serves as an added advantage that may bear fruit in the long run.

Interestingly, a section of Congress sympathisers were also impressed by Gehlot's appointment as he had delivered the goods as Union Minister for Social Justice. "He's an SC leader, highly qualified, and was efficient as Union minister," remarked a party social media user.

Visibly, in order to keep the community's backing intact, BJP stands a chance to claim that it has given 'social justice' and may have a positive impact in the long run in Karnataka politics. By contrast, the Congress failed to give representation to the SC (left) members even in the organisation.

Now, leaders such as former Union minister K H Muniyappa may press for suitable representation in the KPCC. According to sources, his daughter and KGF MLA Roopakala M would be elevated to the post of KPCC women's wing president.

When Congress was in power at the Centre, leading UPA-I and UPA-II, Muniyappa was Union minister, but now the BJP has gone a step ahead by giving suitable representation both at the Centre and in the state. Interestingly, except for minorities, the Modi government now has 57 ministers from SC (12), ST (8) and OBC (27) communities, striking a balance and sending a message ahead of polls to five states, especially Uttar Pradesh.

Dissidence buzz shifts to Delhi

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru:

ON a day of high political action, when PM Narendra Modi was restructuring his cabinet, dissident Vijayapura MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal quietly left for New Delhi. A day later, he was seen in Delhi in the evening. The visit was purportedly to congratulate new Union minister Bhagwant Khuba.

C P Yogeeshwara, another dissident, said, "I spoke to him, he said he is visiting Bhagwant Khuba." Meanwhile, there is much concern among Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's loyalists, especially after Yatnal visited Mysuru recently, and made statements against Yediyurappa and his son, B Y Vijayendra. In another development, the complainant in the corruption case against Yediyurappa, T J Abraham, was also in Delhi and was seen in Karnataka Bhavan on Thursday.

Besides this, Dharwad West BJP MLA Arvind Bellad, who had complained to the central leadership against Yediyurappa, was in Bengaluru, and according to sources, had a closed-door meeting with dissident MLC A H Vishwanath, at a secret location in Bengaluru, on Thursday evening.

CM's political secretary MP Renukacharya, who arrived in Bengaluru from Davanagere, said Yediyurappa has the support of 120 MLAs, and he would go to Delhi to inform the BJP high command to take action against the dissidents, who have been making allegations against Yediyurappa.

Keeping up pressure against Yediyurappa, minister Yogeeshwara openly took on Renukacharya, saying, "He should remember that I am responsible for him getting accommodation in the seven ministers' quarters, and sanction of Rs 1,000 crore for his constituency."

On Renukacharya's taunt that he should resign and get re-elected, Yogeeshwara said he had got elected as an independent, and from different parties as MLA five times. He told TNIE, "I have informed my party leaders of my concerns."

State plans to abolish regional commissioners

Bengaluru: The state government is planning to abolish the four posts of regional commissioners in the state and instead establish a single regional commissionerate in Bengaluru, which was proposed by former Chief Secretary Vijay Bhaskar. Revenue Minister R Ashoka said, "The regional commissioners' offices have turned out to be white elephants. For example, we have been spending crores of rupees on these offices. Each of these offices has more than 125 staff, but to understand their utility, all four put together have received only 250 appeals so far. This is nothing but a waste of resources. Relief for BSY as court dismisses plaint

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PROVIDING relief to Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa and his kin, a Special Court on Thursday dismissed a private complaint seeking investigation into corruption charges against him and eight others.

Abraham T J, president of Anti-Graft and Environmental Forum, had filed a private complaint against the CM, his son and BJP state Vice-President B Y Vijayendra, grandson Shashidhar Maradi, son-in-law Virupakshappa Yamakanamaradi, the latter's son-in-law Sanjay Sree, Cooperation Minister ST Somashekar, IAS officer G C Prakash, businessmen Chandrakanth Ramalingam and K Ravi.

He had alleged that crores of rupees were exchanged in the name of a stalled BDA project, and a work order was issued in favour of Ramalingam Construction Company Pvt. Ltd, a company owned by Ramalingam and Rs 12.5 crore were demanded by Vijayendra on behalf of Yediyurappa. Further, he had alleged that Prakash received Rs 12.5 crore from K Ravi on the assurance that the amount will be handed over to Yediyurappa through Vijayendra.

Another allegation was that Yediyurappa's grandson Shashidhar Maradi used his influence to obtain contracts in government departments, and also influenced Yediyurappa to release funds, expedite file clearance, and movement in various departments. It was also alleged that Maradi exerted pressure on the government to favour Ramalingam, whose sub-contractor paid Rs 12.5 crore to Maradi, which the latter gave to Yediyurappa.

The third allegation was that Yediyurappa, Vijayendra, Maradi and Sanjay Sree used shell companies, and Rs 3.41 crore was transferred to these companies. In turn, the amount was transferred to the bank account of the companies run by the family members.

The prosecution had produced a copy of the Governor rejecting the request of the complainant for sanction for prosecution of the Chief Minister, on June 23.

B Jayantha Kumar, the Special Judge appointed exclusively to deal with criminal cases related to elected MPs/MLAs, dismissed the private complaint, stating it is not maintainable in the absence of valid sanction. The court noted that obtaining "sanction for prosecution is a condition precedent for directing (to) investigation, which has not been obtained by the complainant with respect to accused no. 1, 6 and 7 (Yediyurappa, Somashekhar and GC Prakash respectively), who are public servants."

No aid for death due to debt from illegal moneylenders

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE state government on Thursday passed an order deeming farmer suicides due to debt from unauthorised money lenders, ineligible for compensation.

The government has decided that families of farmers who borrowed from registered and authorised private money lenders, finance companies and pawn brokers and died of suicide due to the inability to repay loans, will be eligible for the Rs 5 lakh compensation. But farmers who have borrowed from unregistered and unauthorised money lenders will not be considered. The move, while hopeful of discouraging farmers from borrowing from unauthorised lenders who resort to illegal ways of recovering loans, is also likely to leave lakhs of farmers, who are dependent on informal money lenders, without a safety net.

The move comes after the Karnataka High Court asked the state government to clarify its stance on paying Rs 5 lakh compensation to family of farmers who have borrowed loans from private money lenders in March this year. The court directed the government to clear its stand while going through an affidavit submitted by the government that compensation was paid only to family members of those farmers who had committed suicide owing to their inability to pay off loans obtained from banks.

SUMALATHA WANTS CBI PROBE INTO ILLEGAL MINING NEAR KRS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

ON a day Mandya MP Sumalatha demanded that Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa order a CBI probe into illegal mining around the Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) reservoir, former CM H D Kumaraswamy said that he had not permitted any illegal mining during his tenure and would welcome it if such activity is stopped. He said that an inquiry will throw light on the fact that his government had banned mining activities in a 20-km radius of KRS.

Sumalatha said the government should stop illegal mining to protect the reservoir, which is the lifeline of the region. Alleging that she and some officials were stopped from visiting a few sites and a bridge to ascertain the status of mining activities, she said "permission is required from certain people" to visit the illegal mining areas around KRS.

She also pulled up officials for allowing illegal mining in Hanagarahalli in Srirangapatna taluk and referred to fresh tracks of vehicles. While pointing out that more than 20 vehicles had been seized, she demanded that officials give in writing that there is no mining activity in the region. Villagers have alleged that mining activities are carried out in revenue land, she said, and wanted to know why revenue officials were turning a blind eye to it.

The MP accused Kumaraswamy of doing injustice to the people of Mandya and reiterated that she will continue her struggle against illegal mining to protect the reservoir.

On his part, the former CM, who spoke to reporters, urged Sumalatha to point out the cracks in the structure.

Referring to the MP's allegations that his government had tapped her phone and also that of the Adichunchanagiri seer, Kumaraswamy shot back saying, "I would not have lost the government if we had tapped phones." He also said that injustice will not be done to the people of Mandya in the MySugar and MANMUL issues.

Meanwhile, Srirangapatna MLA Ravindra Srikantanaiah, who visited the KRS reservoir, said that the talk about cracks in the reservoir are baseless. Ravindra said illegal mining started in 2007 when Ambareesh was a Parliament member. He further alleged that Ambareesh had even visited the illegal mining site in Hangarahalli, run by his supporter.

Reacting to this, Sumalatha lashed out at the MLA for 'lying' to the people and recalled that Ambareesh had once lost the election from Srirangapatna and was a victim of a conspiracy.

Farmer who ploughed fields with daughters gets oxen

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH @Hubballi

THE lack of oxen or machinery to cultivate his land did not deter Kallappa Jawoor or his gritty daughters. Jawoor (43) wanted to cultivate the acre of land, and his daughters helped him pull the plough, as the family couldn't afford to hire machinery or oxen. They live in Madakihonnalli village in Kalaghatagi taluk of Dharwad district.

A video of the girls working in the field went viral in the past couple of days, evoking sympathy and even offers of help.

Kallappa Jawoor had no choice. After recovering from a health issue which involved two surgeries, he decided to cultivate his land, but was unable to plough it by himself. His daughters came forward to join hands with their father and they decided to pull the plough in their fields. With the help of Megha and Sakshi, he managed to sow soybean on his land.

Eldest daughter Megha is pursuing a diploma in computer science in Hubballi, Sakshi is studying in Class 10 and the third daughter, Sarala, is in Class 7 in the village school. Kallappa wanted to earn more money to help his daughters in their studies, and improve his family's fortunes.

"My daughters boosted my confidence by joining hands, both Megha and Sakshi used to pull the plough and I used to sow in the field," he added.

Hearing of his plight, former Congress MLC Nagaraj Chebbi, from Hubballi, gifted the family a pair of oxen. The handover ceremony was organised at Siddharoodha Mutt in Hubballi.

"The family required oxen to continue agriculture activities and Kallappa's daughters, who are students, were helping him. So I decided to help them and offered a pair of oxen. Politicians spend money for various purposes, if they spend a small amount to help needy families, many will lead an independent life," he said.

NO ONE CAN CREATE RIFT IN DEVE GOWDA FAMILY: REVANNA

Hassan: Taking exception to the recent statement of Mandya MP Sumalatha, who had lauded Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna's conduct while comparing him with his uncle H D Kumaraswamy, former minister H D Revanna said on Thursday that the H D Deve Gowda family is united and no one can create a divide. "It is impossible till JDS supremo Deve Gowda is alive," he added. Addressing a press conference here, Revanna said that Sumalata should not have dragged in Prajwal's name in her war of words with Kumaraswamy on the KRS dam issue. "No one can create a divide among our family members by airing such political statements," he said. Revanna said the Mandya MP can seek a probe into the alleged issue instead try to tarnish the image of Gowda family.

UP police notice without jurisdiction, says Twitter counsel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JUSTIFYING their action in approaching the Karnataka High Court against the Uttar Pradesh Police notice, over a case registered with regard to the upload of a 'doctored' video allegedly to promote enmity between different groups, the counsel for Twitter India Managing Director Manish Maheshwari argued that the notice was issued without jurisdiction and authority of law.

However, the counsel of UP Police filed written arguments, stating that the petitioner himself claims to be the "country leader at Twitter" on various social media platforms, including LinkedIn, and hence, no infirmity can be found with the issuance of notice by the police.

Defending the petitioner's action, Senior Advocate CV Nagesh submitted before Justice G Narendar, reiterating the petitioner's apprehension that he would be arrested if he appears before the UP Police. He argued that the petitioner will appear before the police virtually, if they still want him to. He made this submission when asked on what ground the petition was filed before this court to quash the notice, dated June 21, 2021, issued to Maheshwari by the UP Police under Section 41A of CrPC.

UP cops: Twitter India MD can approach Allahabad HC

Meanwhile, Advocate P Prasanna Kumar, representing UP Police, submitted the written arguments before the court, stating that if the petitioner freely apprehends arrest at the hands of the police, he may seek for anticipatory bail before the Allahabad High Court. "Without seeking any such remedy, and directly approaching this court indicates the malafides of the petitioner," said the written arguments.

The offence of creating communal discord has been committed within the territorial jurisdiction of Loni Border Police Station, Ghaziabad, and the territorial jurisdiction would be solely vested with the High Court of UP alone, the UP Police claimed.

Referring to the ground taken by the petitioner that he is a resident of Bengaluru, and hence, he has approached the Karnataka HC, it was stated in the written argument that the question of law has already been determined by the Supreme Court that ground of residence of the petition as a means to invoke writ jurisdiction of this HC is devoid of merits.

"Documents such as Registration Certificate, Driving Licence, Insurance, Fitness Certificate, permits, and emission test certificates can be downloaded onto Digilocker and mParivahan mobile applications. When asked by traffic police, vehicle users are requested to produce digital documents, which will help keep original documents safe and also weed out fake ones," he said.

Online gambling ban: State to make stand known after Cabinet, House nod

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government on Thursday informed the Karnataka High Court that its stand regarding imposing a ban on online gambling and betting will be placed before the court, after seeking due approval of the Cabinet and Legislature.

Chief Secretary P Ravikumar filed an affidavit before a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Ashok G Nijagannavar in response to the direction issued to file a statement of objections, with regard to a PIL filed by DR Sharada, and place the government's stand regarding ban on all forms of online gambling and betting in the state.

He submitted that a draft Bill has been prepared for the consideration of the Cabinet after consultations with various departments and legal experts. As per the First Schedule of Karnataka Government (Transactions of Business Rules), 1977, a draft Bill requires approval of both Houses of Legislature, and hence, prior Cabinet approval is necessary.

It was stated that soon after receiving approval of this proposal by the Cabinet, the Home Department will take necessary steps to present the draft Bill to the State Legislature, with a request to place the same before both Houses. The court was informed that the failure on the State Government's part to abide by the assurance given to the former, as well as to comply with its directions, is neither intentional nor deliberate.

Annamalai is new chief of Tamil Nadu BJP

Before political plunge, he was SP of Shivamogga, Karkala, Udupi and Chikkamagaluru, and DCP Bengaluru South

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

FORMER IPS officer Annamalai Kuppusamy was on Thursday appointed the new president of BJP's Tamil Nadu unit. The 38-year-old is the youngest person to assume the post. Significantly, Annamalai moved to the top post in the state unit within a short span of 11 months after joining the party. By appointing Annamalai to the post, the BJP high command has made it clear that it wants to infuse young blood into the State unit which recently opened its account in the Tamil Nadu Assembly after a long gap.

Annamalai joined the BJP on August 25 last year, in New Delhi, and within five days, he was made one of the vice presidents of the unit. There was speculations that the party might fight it alone in the Assembly elections and Annamalai was expected to be BJP's Chief Ministerial candidate. Shortly after joining the BJP, he had said, "There is a lot of misconception about the BJP in Tamil Nadu and there is a need to work to create awareness. I think the BJP will be able to give a new vision and direction to Tamil Nadu." He however, lost the elections in the Aravakurichi constituency to DMK candidate R Elango, by a margin of 24,816 votes.

Born in a farmer's family near Karur on June 4, 1984, Annamalai was among the first generation graduates from the village. He received his Bachelor of Engineering degree in mechanical stream from PSG College of Technology, Coimbatore in 2007, and also did his Master's in Business Administration, specialising in marketing and strategy, from the Indian Institute of Management, Lucknow in 2010.

Later, Annamalai became an IPS officer and served in Shivamoga (as a trainee ASP), Karkala (as Assistant Superintendent of Police), Udupi and Chikkamagaluru (as SP) and later Bengaluru South (as Deputy Commissioner of Police). He quit the post in May 2019 and after a year, joined the BJP.

ON HIGH ALERT

Kerala confirms first Zika virus infection, 13 results awaited

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

KERALA has been put on alert after Zika virus infection was detected for the first time in the state on Thursday. The National Institute of Virology, Pune, confirmed the infection in a pregnant woman from Parassala in Thiruvananthapuram. Of the 19 samples sent for testing from different parts of the capital district, 13 more are suspected to be Zika positive, though an official confirmation is yet to arrive. The 13 samples are those of health workers.

Health Minister Veena George has directed all district health officers to be on alert on the new infection that primarily spreads through mosquito bites. The Zika virus infection has been detected at a time when the state has been struggling to control the Covid spread.

The 24-year-old pregnant woman from Parassala was admitted to General Hospital on June 8 with symptoms such as fever, headache and body rashes. In the RT-PCR test, she was found mildly positive for Zika virus infection and her samples were sent to NIV, Pune, for confirmation. A statement from the health department said the patient's health condition was satisfactory and she had a normal delivery on July 7.

She did not have a travel history. But it was found that her house is near the Kerala-Tamil Nadu border. Her mother also had similar symptoms a week ago. Tamil Nadu had reported its first Zika case in July 2017.

The district surveillance team, district vector control unit and state epidemiology team visited the locality in Parassala and took measures to prevent the infection. It included collecting samples of Aedes aegypti mosquitoes, responsible for spreading dengue, chikungunya and Zika fever, and sent them for PCR test.

- First reported case in India: Ahmedabad in Gujarat in January 2017
- Infection spreads through bites by Aedes aegypti mosquitoes, sexual contact, blood transfusion, from pregnant woman to her foetus
- No medicine or vaccine available against Zika
- Zika infection during pregnancy can cause birth defect

SYMPTOMS

Fever	Joint pain
Rashes	Muscle pain
Headache	Conjunctivitis

Zika virus

The infection is mostly asymptomatic and deaths are rare. However, it may have severe effects on pregnant women. It causes abortion or complications in pregnancy. The child born of an infected mother could have physical disabilities. Infection in children and elderly could result in nerve disorders. The symptoms last for two to seven days.

The virus has an incubation period of three to 14 days. Zika is detected using the RT-PCR test. However, only the National Centre for Disease Control in Delhi and NIV-Pune have facilities for confirming the infection.

Prevention and treatment

There is no medicine for the prevention and treatment of Zika. Doctors recommend adequate rest and drinking plenty of water to help relieve symptoms. If the symptoms worsen, expert care should be sought.

State mulls new property tax category for industries

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE State Government is contemplating on adding a new category of property tax to provide relief for industries complaining about higher taxes, Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar said on Thursday.

Shettar said they will soon convene a meeting of officers from the Urban Development and Industries departments after which a proposal will be placed before the cabinet. On Thursday, Shettar and Urban Development Minister Byrathi Basavaraj interacted with members of the Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industries (FKCCI) to discuss their concerns regarding property tax and other issues.

"Currently, there are only two categories - residential and commercial - for property tax. All industries are put under the commercial category, where taxes are on the higher side. To provide relief to industries, we are contemplating a separate slab that is between residential and commercial categories," the minister said.

The minister said the need to have a separate slab for industries has also been mentioned in the new industrial policy and they have already held several rounds of meetings to discuss it. "A final decision will be taken after holding a meeting with the Urban Development Department," he added.

Shettar said they will soon decide on sharing 70 per cent of revenue from the development of townships with the township development boards and 30 per cent with the local bodies.

Country's 2nd mining school in Ballari

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

BALLARI, the mining hub of Karnataka, is all set to get another feather in its cap, with the country's second School of Mining to be established outside the city soon.

The Department of Mines and Geology will be implementing the project in an area of 50 acres and will train the employees attached to the mining companies operating in Karnataka and other parts of India.

The institute will also conduct short-term training courses for owners and other employees attached to mining firms on legal clauses, best practices in transport and exporting and other such related work.

"There is only one such institute in Dhanbad of Jharkhand. We are awaiting final approval from the government and it is expected to be announced by Minister Murugesh Nirani," said an official from the district administration.

"The institute will help mining firm owners. Engineering students can visit or serve as interns and learn about the mining field. Field works will be organised for students. Interactions with experts in the field, mining company owners in other parts of India, and abroad will also be held," the official explained.

Ballari and Vijayanagara districts are known as mining hubs of Karnataka. There are 32 major mining companies operating in these two districts and lakhs of people are directly or indirectly attached to the mining business in this region.

Another arrest in Yogishgouda murder case

Gadag: Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) sleuths made another arrest for the murder of BJP member Yogishgouda Goudar, way back in 2016.The CBI men took Gadag APMC Secretary Somaling Nyamagouda into custody from his residence on Thursday. Nyamagaouda was the personal secretary to the then minister in Siddaramaiah goverment, Vinay Kulkarni, who is languishing in jail since November last year for his alleged involvement in the murder of the BJP member. With the arrest of Nyamagouda, the number of those arrested in the case has gone up to nine, including Chandrashekhar Indi, a close relative of Kulkarni. A neighbour of Nyamagouda said that they saw a car with some officials visiting the officer's house at APMC quarters in Gadag during early morning.

UPDATE YOUR AADHAAR-LINKED MOBILE NUMBER FROM HOME

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

CITIZENS can soon update their Aadhaar-linked mobile number from the convenience of their homes through postal delivery staffers. Trial runs have already started across Karnataka and a full-fledged launch is imminent.

In the next phase, registration of Aadhaar card for children below five years from homw will also begin. The move introduced by India Post across the country, has been first adopted by Karnataka.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, a senior postal official noted that this was possible due to an application developed by the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI), Child Enrolment Lite Client (CELC). "The postal delivery person will also be equipped with a biometric scanner to take the finger prints of Aadhaar cardholders for cross-checking. If it tallies, then they will be able to update the phone number using the app in no time," he said.

The app has already been activated in the phones of nearly 600 postal staffers, who are using it on a trial basis. "A majority of such trials have been done in Vijayapura and Haveri districts and they have been successful," he added.

While those in urban areas do not change mobile numbers easily, it is done frequently in rural areas, whenever offers are announced by telecom companies. "It will, therefore, benefit those in rural areas more," he added.

"Since the Aadhaar numbers of the parents of children are already available, staff can do their registration at the doorstep. This will be done in the next phase and not right now," the official said.

Sharmila launches party, vows to take on Jagan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

ON the 73rd birth anniversary of her late father YS Rajasekhar Reddy, YS Sharmila unveiled her political outfit, YSR Telangana Party on Thursday, sending out a message loud and clear that she was ready to take on her brother and AP Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy to safeguard the Telangana's share of Krishna waters.

She also made an announcement that she would undertake a padayatra across Telangana after 100 days to ingrain among people her party's philosophy of welfare, self-reliance and equality and at the same to expose Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao's government.

Sharmila is not new to Telangana as back in 2012 she took out a padayatra across the erstwhile AP when Jagan Mohan Reddy was in jail, following his arrest in disproportionate assets' case.

Though she did not refer to him by name, she kept calling him as the Chief Minister of the neighbouring State and cast aspersions on him for not sitting with his Telangana counterpart K Chandrasekhar Rao to iron out the dispute in Krishna water sharing.

"Both of them had met in the past, dined together. But they are not ready to sit together for two minutes and resolve the water sharing issue. Neither leader cares for the interests of his respective state," she said.

Sharmila, repeatedly referred to the inaction of Rao even as the "leader of the neighbouring State" continued construction of irrigation projects."

'You can't defeat KCR with dialogues'

Hyderabad: TRS working president and IT and Industries Minister KT Rama Rao on Thursday gave it back in equal measure to the Opposition leaders after they had hurled allegations on Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao, saying they couldn't defeat him with 'dialogues.' COURSE CORRECTION NEEDED IN KERALA'S COVID STRATEGY

Kerala currently accounts for about one-third of the daily growth in Covid-19 cases in the country and one-fourth of the active caseload. The state has the highest seven-day average TPR among big states and its infection graph is still rising at a time when the rest of the country seems to have overcome the second wave. The Kerala model of Covid management has surely unravelled since the initial pandemic days, when it was hailed as the best. Its sole defence of relatively lower death toll too has fallen since and even its 14,000-odd death figure is under suspicion due to evident signs of undercounting and fudging.

On May 12, Kerala reported its highest daily case tally at 43,529 and a record TPR of 29.7%, and on May 17, CM Pinarayi Vijayan cautiously declared the state may have crossed the peak. The fact that even nearly two months later, and despite the 40-day complete lockdown, the state is nowhere close to ending the wave is a clear indication that it may have botched its strategy. Experts have singled out the inconsistency and inadequacy in Kerala's testing strategy as a reason for its failure to tame the contagion. It cut back on testing as soon as cases started to reduce after the peak, ignoring the wisdom of sticking to the effective 3T strategy of test, trace and treat. The lockdown too did not have the desired impact because other associated containment measures were not given enough attention. Even its post-unlock strategies like the odd-even rule for buses and restrictions on business hours at banks, shops and liquor outlets are leading to unnecessary crowding.

Given the failures, a thorough assessment of Kerala's anti-Covid strategy is inevitable. It's also time to evaluate if the expert panel is doing what's required of it—reading the situation correctly and delivering timely and appropriate advice. It may be too early, and even unfair, to judge the performance of the new health minister, but the situation demands someone who would take charge of the battle at hand and deliver without losing time. The CM, who has boldly assumed the responsibility of briefing the public on a regular basis, must also show the resolve to enforce a course correction that Kerala desperately needs.

BRIDGE THE VAX GENDER GAP IN TN

Long, snaking queues at dawn these days outside Covid mass vaccination centres in Tamil Nadu to collect tokens validate the contention of health minister M Subramanian that the state's sluggish inoculation rate has now perked up. As of now, just over 1.72 crore people have been inoculated in a state with an estimated 5.8 crore beneficiaries above the age of 18. Of them, 29 lakh have been fully vaccinated while 1.43 crore have taken their first dose. Recent reports of a village in a backward district where all eligible 18-plus beneficiaries not only took their jabs but also honoured the visiting vaccination team indicate the level of awareness and the lack of vaccine hesitancy. One hopes the message will percolate across rural TN and make people receptive to the vaccine, which alone can protect them from the next Covid wave. Since the state started off rather slowly, catching up does take time and needs a steady supply of vaccine doses. But Tamil Nadu has exhausted its stock of vaccines, one reason why MaSu, as the minister is better known, had lined up a meeting with Dr Harsh Vardhan in Delhi for Friday. Now that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has dropped Vardhan and made Mansukh Mandaviya the new health minister, the meeting could be rescheduled.

An interesting data MaSu recently shared was that Tamil Nadu can no longer be blamed for wasting vaccines; instead, it is actually saving doses. For, vaccinators are now extracting up to 12 doses from a vial instead of just 10. They have thus added 1.4 lakh doses to the basket so far, he claimed. Compare that with the wasting of 3.5-4 lakh doses during his predecessor's regime, and the difference is stark. If that saving is indeed possible—a few private hospitals elsewhere in the country have shown it is doable—MaSu could share the TN experience with Mandaviya to try it out across India.

However, one worrying data point is the gender gap in the drive, as 3% fewer women as compared to men have taken the jabs in Tamil Nadu so far. Though the average national gender gap is 4%, TN could take the initiative to bridge it quickly and set another progressive model worthy of replication.

How can we plan better as we revamp our urban planning and rebuild our health systems to be more resilient, responsive, efficient and equitable?

STRENGTHENING PANDEMIC RESPONSE IN URBAN AREAS

DR K SRINATH REDDY

Cardiologist, Epidemiologist & President, Public Health Foundation of India (PHFI)

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Why are cities the first to be hit in wave after wave of the pandemic? Why did healthcare capacities of most cities crumble when pressured by a surge of infected persons? How did the poor and vulnerable sections of the population, especially migrants, fare when challenged by multiple inequities? How can we plan better as we revamp our urban planning and rebuild our health systems to be more resilient, responsive, efficient and equitable?

We must address these questions as we emerge from the second wave of the Covid pandemic and prepare ourselves for a possible third. Vulnerability of cities, as entry points for potentially pandemic-causing microbes, is easily explainable as international airports and seaports bring infected travellers. Even within-country spread is easy, through the many domestic travellers who visit or transit through a city by rail road, air or sea. From these cities, microbes radiate to neighbouring districts or further afar as they travel with people.

High levels of population density and mobility make cities vulnerable to rapid spread of infection, with a big surge in the number of cases and a long time for the wave to ebb. Levels of air pollution are higher in cities, adding to greater vulnerability to severe disease due to generalised inflammation affecting blood vessels besides causing lung damage that respiratory viruses aggravate. For microbes capable of spreading by water, cities offer a huge opportunity to do so through extensive water supply lines and sewage systems.

Surveillance systems have to be strengthened to detect infectious agents, monitor the routes of spread and identify infected individuals who can transmit to others. In Covid, this called for early, effective and extensive testing to detect the virus and genomic analysis on a subsample of the positive test isolates. Equipment, labs and reporting systems for these must be well planned and ready for an early and anticipatory pandemic response, rather than a hurried scramble when a pandemic is rapidly advancing. Surveillance of traveller entry points must be scientific and strict. Newer modalities like sniffer dogs and breathalyser machines are being validated for detecting the presence of specific volatile organic compounds (VOCs) in infected persons. These may come into greater use in future. Apart from diagnostic tests, clinical symptoms, history of close contact with infected persons and recent travel to pandemic hotspots must determine the probability of infection in an individual.

Epidemiological surveillance as well as efficient management of cases demand strengthening of public health capacity and primary healthcare services. These have been areas of great neglect in urban health planning and financing. Much of the rush in hospitals during Covid arose because primary care teams were unavailable for home visits, symptom-based screening, early testing, supportive home care and appropriate referrals for hospital care. Even contact tracing and vaccine confidence building require primary healthcare teams. Detection of comorbidities like hypertension and diabetes that increase the risk of adverse outcomes is a function of primary care. Oxygen-equipped district hospitals and advanced care institutions for intensive care must be well connected to primary care, through readily available emergency medical transport. Investments will be needed for an expanded, multi-layered, multi-skilled health workforce to deliver efficient services at all levels of care.

> High levels of population density and mobility make cities vulnerable to rapid spread of infection. Levels of air pollution are higher in cities, adding to greater vulnerability to severe disease

While much of planning for coordination and resource allocation will need to be done by the state administration, local micro-planning and contextually adaptive implementation have to be entrusted to municipal authorities. Mayors and municipal corporations have played a strong role in Covid pandemic response in many countries. In India, this has been invisible, with rare exceptions like Mumbai and Kerala. Data-driven decentralised decision-making is critical for timely detection and efficient control of outbreaks in community clusters. With the Fifteenth Finance Commission allocating more funds for urban health and directing them to local bodies, the situation may change. The local bodies will need technical support for evidence-informed decision-making, requiring augmented public health expertise at that level.

Community engagement is pivotal for an efficient pandemic response. From early alerts of outbreaks to supporting home care, from countering stigma and discrimination to building vaccine confidence, members of the community can play an active role, whether as individuals or organised groups. Health literacy is also best promoted through community networks. Social solidarity, promoted by collective community action, provides the best defence against the debilitating mental health and corrosive social effects of a prolonged pandemic.

Besides strong health system competencies, pandemic response must pay attention to urban redesign to replace slums with better housing, provide for less crowded public transport and safe cycling lanes, more open and green spaces, adequate and equitable access to clean water and air, affordable nutrient-dense foods, efficient sanitation services, universal education and inclusive digital literacy. UN-Habitat's report on 'Cities and Pandemics' (30 March 2021) also calls for financial support to cities to create financial resilience through "a new urban economy that allows investments in disaster risk reduction as well as climate change actions". Indeed, we need many complementary actions as cities aim to build forward, better, broader and fairer.

HAVE THE FLOODGATES OPENED AGAINST BIG TECH?

ATANU BISWAS

Professor of Statistics, Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata

While some digital media companies are in confrontation with the Government of India, this may be part of a bigger battle worldwide that the Silicon Valley companies will have to face as more governments around the world are challenging their so-called principles on online freedom. In an interview on BBC's Andrew Marr Show in March 2017, Amber Rudd, the then UK Home Secretary, condemned end-to-end encryption, which protects the privacy of WhatsApp users. Rudd was of the firm opinion that "there should be no place for terrorists to hide". Then, in an opinion piece in The Daily Telegraph in July 2017, Rudd said that "real people" are not really interested in security features that stop the government and criminals from reading their messages. Although some critics called her claim "dangerous and misleading", her idea persists. Subsequently, in July 2019, senior ministers from the group 'Five Eyes', comprising the US, Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, said encryption should not come at the expense of public safety. "The Five Eyes are united that tech firms should not develop their systems and services, including end-to-end encryption, in ways that empower criminals or put vulnerable people at risk," said British Home Secretary Priti Patel.

Meanwhile, Russia is increasingly pressuring Google, Twitter and Facebook to adhere to the Kremlin internet crackdown orders or risk restrictions inside the country. A Russian court recently fined Google six million rubles for not taking down a piece of illegal content. President Vladimir Putin recently signed a law ordering Facebook and Twitter to store all data on Russian users within the country.

We know that the influence of these online platforms on society is tremendous. The Cambridge Analytica episode would keep haunting us for many more years to come. As these tech platforms are becoming instrumental in many activities of national and international importance—from election campaigns to organising various types of protests—not to ignore several kinds of criminal acts as well, it is not surprising that they will be pressured to abide by the rules and guidelines of the lands.

This, however, is just one side of the coin. The other side is no less important. While the US is trying to protect Big Tech's business interest in the international arena, there is every sign that it is trying to clip their wings at home. This June, when Joe Biden appointed 32-year-old Lina Khan as a commissioner at the Federal Trade Commission, Elizabeth Warren, who ran on breaking up Big Tech in her 2020 presidential campaign, described Khan's appointment as "tremendous news". And Financial Times' reaction was: "Khan, the New Antitrust Chief taking on Big Tech!" Yes, Khan emerged as the leader of the "hipster antitrust" movement among young scholars since her paper titled Amazon's Antitrust Paradox was published in the Yale Law Journal in January 2017. "A small group of private executives are setting the rules of who gets to use the infrastructure and on what terms," Khan said in a recent BBC interview.

> Facebook's tussle with Australia may be a changing point in the history of the digital world that would redefine the relationships of big tech companies with society. ... As tech platforms are becoming instrumental in many activities of national and international importance, it is not surprising that they will be pressured to abide by the rules of the lands

Australia's recent face-off with Facebook has tremendous potential to reshape the future of the tech giant's grip on this planet. Australian news outlets complained about the role of the digital giants in destroying their business model. Consequently, the Australian parliament got engaged in the process of passing a law that would force Facebook and Google to pay publishers if they host their content. Reportedly, both Google and Facebook put forth the argument that their platforms enhance the visibility of news content, and also that the proposed rules would expose the Internet companies to "unmanageable levels of financial and operational risk".

The two companies, however, have responded in different ways. While Google has agreed to multi-million-dollar contracts with some major Australian news outlets, Facebook retaliated—it banned Australian users from sharing or viewing such content on the platform. It intensified the bitter war. Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison said his country would not be intimidated by an American tech company. "They may be changing the world, but that doesn't mean they run it," Morrison said. Did Morrison sound similar to Khan?

Facebook's tussle down under may be a changing point in the history of the digital world that would redefine the relationships of big tech companies with society. The rest of the world keenly watched the face-off, and a bigger war might be brewing. Countries such as India, Indonesia, Brazil, Mexico and the Philippines being home to the most Facebook users outside the US, it would be a completely different ball game if such issues pop up in some of these nations in the near future. In any case, after a series of talks between Australia and Facebook, a concession deal was struck and Facebook restored Australian news pages after Canberra offered four amendments to the proposed law. Still, that may be the beginning of a war in the broader perspective. Microsoft had urged Joe Biden to bring in similar legislation in the US. There are signs that countries such as the UK, Canada and nations of the European Union are impressed with the Australian law.

Overall, is an opening of floodgates in different countries on the cards then? There might well be a paradigm shift in the business model and type of functioning of the tech giants due to all these issues.

Lessons not learnt in Kerala

The Covid scenario had shown signs of improvements before the easing of restrictions in Kerala. Since then, the TPR had been climbing rapidly due to non-adherence to protocols. Worst among the lawbreakers are the boozers running out of patience while waiting in serpentine queues before BEVCO outlets.

Remembering Emergency

The article How or how not to remember the Emergency (July 3) makes pertinent points. I used to work in a PSU at that time and know how the Emergency was misused to dismiss people inconvenient to the management on trumped-up charges. Inefficient people thrived. If one visits Germany and spends time at the Nuremberg Museum, it will bring out the atrocities committed by the Nazis and the things to avoid in the future. It will be a good idea to have a museum in Delhi depicting the misuse of powers during the Emergency.

Members of revamped Cabinet visit BJP headquarters and party president Nadda's residence as part of orientation exercise, handed agendas to work on

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN line with the reset mantra of the Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led NDA government at the Centre to work closely with the organisation, newly sworn-in ministers headed for a meeting with BJP chief JP Nadda, besides heading to the party's headquarters, on Thursday.

Later in the evening the Prime Minister presided over a meeting of the Council of Ministers, where the task was clearly spelt out that the ministers should quickly settle in their jobs and stay visible in front of the public in general.

The likes of Jyotiraditya Scindia, Sarbanada Sonowal, Bhupender Yadav, Annapurna Devi visited the BJP headquarters. The newly sworn-in ministers called on Nadda at his residence, where the national joint general secretary of BJP, V Satish was also present along with other senior party functionaries.

The massage to the new ministers has been clear. They have to closely work with the organisation and act on the feedback provided by the party leaders, sources said, adding that it has also been conveyed to them that they need to be visible.

The major recast of the Council of Ministers was preceded by hectic parleys by Nadda and senior ministers with the Prime Minister during which the party's organisational secretary BL Santhosh had also been present. The BJP leadership had grimly noted that disconnect of some of the ministers in the government with the people and the party had been contributing to the formation of a negative image of the Central government, sources said.

The meeting of the Council of Ministers held in the evening was more of an orientation for the newly inducted members in the government, where the Prime Minister is learnt to have asked them to work on execution of agenda listed out for their respective ministries.

With Rane inducted in Modi's cabinet, BJP eyes Maratha vote bank

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's decision of inducting former chief minister Narayan Rane in his cabinet is a strong message that the BJP wants to shed its traditional Brahmin-Baniya party image in Maharashtra and plans to foster a strong Maratha leadership.

The BJP's chief ministerial pick in the last assembly and current leader in the House, Devendra Fadnavis, is a Brahmin. But after the party lost power, many OBC and other communities started drifting away from it. The negativity against the party has been rising under Fadnavis. Hence, the BJP decided to do expand its vote base beyond Brahmin and Baniya voters.

During the time of Gopinath Munde, the BJP's leadership was in the hands of OBC. After the rise of Fadnavis, it has been unable to test any major success despite using all resources. That's another reason why the party has now decided to strengthen the hands of Rane, a Maratha. BJP sources said from now on, along with Fadnavis he will have a major say in party affairs.

Maharashtra has more than 30% Maratha population. The state's politics has been always dominated by Maratha leaders such as Yashwantrao Chavan and Sharad Pawar. "The BJP also has Maratha leaders like Ashish Shelar and Chandrakant Patil, but they have their limitations. By inducting Rane, the party aims to wean away Maratha votes in upcoming polls," said a senior leader.

Apart from Rane, the PM has inducted three new faces from the state: Kapil Patil, Bhagwat Karad and Bharati Pawar. Except for Karad, all three have switched to the BJP from other parties. Patil and Pawar were with the NCP earlier.

Narayan Rane takes charge as minister in New Delhi on Thursday | PTI

"This is a positive message for outsiders who are in the BJP: that positions are not only given to old and loyal members but also to new entrants provided they are hardworking, aggressively take on the opposition and expand the party base," said a political observer. "During the last assembly polls, many Congress and NCP leaders joined BJP and got elected. But BJP could not form a government. These MLAs are unhappy and may consider leaving the party. BJP hopes the message that those who bring benefits to the outfit will be appropriately rewarded will not be lost on such leaders."

Centre invites farmers to talks, APMCs to get interest bonus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet in its meeting on Thursday sought to calm the nerves of agitating farmers by allowing inclusion of Agriculture Produce Marketing Cooperatives (APMCs) in the interest subvention scheme unveiled in the Union Budget of ₹ one lakh crore for creation of agriculture infrastructure.

Union Minister for Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Narendra Singh Tomar reiterated his appeal to renew talks with the farmer unions, saying that they have benefited in the past seven years of the various initiatives taken by the government for agriculture, including direct payments of the MSP (Minimum Support Prices) procurement of food grains.

Tomar, briefing the Cabinet decision, said the interest subvention scheme has been amended to allow the projects for the strengthening of the APMCs within the ambit of the scheme. He also said that the individuals, Farmers Producers Organisations (FPOs) and others can taken up 25 projects, but in different locations and claim interest subventions for Rs 2 crore loan for each.

He also said the state cooperatives can take up more than 25 projects under the scheme, which was unveiled in the Union Budget this year. Also, Tomar informed that the Cabinet has amended the Coconut Board to crate the post of a CEO and chairman who will be from a farming background, while the scope of the entity will be expanded to explore opportunities abroad.

Nitish silence on Singh's elevation surprises JD-U

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

MORE than 24 hours have passed since JD-U national president RCP Singh was inducted into the Central Cabinet, but the usual congratulatory message from party leader and Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar has not come.

Kumar, who is active on Twitter, did not make any congratulatory comment. It has caught Patna's political circle by surprise. "Boss (Nitish Kumar) is silent and that is beyond our comprehension. If something goes against his will, he turns silent and avoids discussions," a senior JD-U leader said.

Sources felt JD-U getting just one berth and others including his close confidante Rajiv Ranjan Singh missing out might have irked Kumar and that is why he is silent. In fact, RCP Singh had been authorised by the party to take a call on joining the Union Cabinet.

However, JD-U getting just one minister despite having 16 MPs is causing unease. "What is the difference between LJP led by Pashupati Kumar Paras and our party led by Nitish Kumar? We should have got at least two Cabinet and one State Minister berths," said a leader.

"After becoming a Cabinet minister, RCP Singh has received a host of messages but not a single tweet from Nitish Kumar. It shows that he is not happy with the decision of accepting only one cabinet berth," another JD-U leader said.

Kumar expressed grief at the demise of former Himachal Pradesh CM Virbhadra Singh. But even as JD-U state president Umesh Kushwaha and other party leaders congratulated RCP Singh, the CM was quiet on this. "Question is bound to arise whether Kumar is not happy with RCP Singh becoming a minister? He is active on Twitter and other social media platforms than he was in the past. But what does this silence show?" was the common thought of JD-U leaders.

Strategy evident in selection of four ministers from Bengal

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE Centre's decision of axing two Ministers for State from West Bengal and drafting fresh four Bengal BJP MPs in the Union Cabinet appears to be well-designed, with an eye on balancing the caste and regional equations in the state.

BJP did not do well in the recent Assembly polls. But around half of the 77 seats they won came from north Bengal and SC-dominated regions. The four new ministers represent various communities and ethnic groups. Two of them are from north Bengal. Cooch Behar MP Nisith Pramanik (Home Affairs and Sports) represents Rajbongshis, the largest faction of the state's SC community. Alipurduar MP John Barla (Minority Affairs) is the tribal face of the teagarden region.

Bongaon MP Shantanu Thakur (Port, Shipping, Waterways) belongs to the Matua community, which is a Hindu religious sect of SC refugees from Bangladesh. Bankura MP Subhas Sarkar (Education) was the other one chosen. He is known to have done well for BJP in the Jungle Mahal belt.

''Rajbongshis form around 40% of the electorates in north Bengal and the community has a stake of nearly 20% in the Jalpaiguri and Alipurduar regions. Selection of two MPs from this region clearly indicates that the party doesn't want to lose its Rajbongshi and tribal vote share achieved since the 2019 Lok Sabha elections,'' said a BJP leader in Kolkata.

North Bengal has proven to be the saffron camp's stronghold in the last two elections. The region has 54 Assembly seats, of which BJP won 30. In the remaining 240, BJP secured victory only in 37.

Barla recently raised a demand that north Bengal should become a separate Union Territory. Although the party did not officially endorse his view, naming him in the Cabinet suggests he remains an important figure in the scheme of things. "Separate statehood has been a long-standing demand of Gorkhas in the hills and Rajbongshis in the foothills. The inclusion of Barla in the Cabinet sends a message that the Centre is not ignoring local sentiments," said the leader.

Thakur had on several occasions expressed discontent over the issue of non-implementation of CAA, a promise BJP had made before the 2019 Lok Sabha polls to grant Matua refugees citizenship. "BJP performed well in Matua strongholds. Since implementation of CAA seems impossible now, Thakur was rewarded to ease out the discontent of Matuas, who will be needed in 2024 LS polls," said another leader.

The PM stressed that technological and R&D institutions will play a major role in the upcoming decade, which, he added, will be called "India's Techade". He highlighted the need to focus on developing futuristic solutions in the fields of education, healthcare, agriculture, defence, and cyber technologies. A statement from the government said that the PM lauded the research and development work done by these institutions towards meeting the challenges posed by Covid-19 and appreciated the efforts of young innovators towards providing quick technological solutions.

Twitter has to comply: New minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

NEW Union Electronics and Information Technology (IT) Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Thursday said the 'law of the land' was supreme and Twitter will have to fall in line and comply with new social media and intermediary guidelines.

This comes amidst Twitter and Centre engaged in a tug of war over the new IT Rules and the appointment of a chief compliance officer.

"Whoever is a citizen of India and those who stay in India will have to abide by the laws of the country," Vaishnaw said.

This came on a day the Delhi High Court said that there was no interim protection for Twitter and that the Centre was free to take any action if it breached the new IT Rules. Before this, Twitter had informed the Delhi High Court that it will appoint a grievance redressal officer.

Under the new norms, social media companies with over 50 lakh users should appoint a grievance officer to deal with complaints and share the name and contact details of the officers. Big social media companies are required to appoint a chief compliance officer, a nodal contact person and a resident grievance officer. They should be residents of India.

Before Vaishnaw's appointment, his predecessor Ravi Shankar Prasad was engaged in a war of words on social media. Prasad was locked out of Twitter briefly which he had protested against. The ministry has warned Twitter that non-compliance may lead to 'unintended consequences'.

Social media can polarise public debates: Supreme Court

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

STRESSING the importance of social media, the Supreme Court on Thursday said such platforms have become power centres unto themselves, having the ability to influence vast sections of opinions.

Dealing with a plea related to the summons issued to Facebook by the Delhi Assembly's Peace and Harmony Committee in connection with Delhi riots, a bench of Justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul, Dinesh Maheshwari and Hrishikesh Roy commented, "Facebook has the power of not simply a hand but a fist, gloved as it may be. They cannot wash their hands of the issue as this is their very business. Their role is not as innocuous as they are seeking to contend," the court said with of Facebook's role in Delhi riots.

The observations are significant as social media companies, including Facebook and Twitter, have often argued that they are just intermediaries and cannot be held liable under India laws for misuse/abuse of the platform by the users.

"These platforms are by no means altruistic in character but rather employ business models that can be highly privacy intrusive and have the potential to polarise public debates," the bench said.

Highlighting the spread of misinformation on such platforms which has created ripples across the globe, the court elaborated that even "election and voting processes, the very foundation of a democratic government, stand threatened by social media manipulation".

"The concern is whether the liberal debate which these platforms profess to encourage has itself become a casualty."

The bench held that for intermediaries to say they can sidestep this criticism is a fallacy, as they are at the centre of these debates. "It has to be noted their platform has also hosted disruptive voices replete with misinformation. These have had a direct impact on vast areas of subject matter which ultimately affect the governance of states. In this modern technological age, it would be too simplistic for an intermediary like Facebook to contend they are merely a platform for exchange of ideas without performing any significant role themselves, especially given their functioning and business model," the court said.

The bench observed governments have expressed concern for necessity of greater accountability by these intermediaries which have become big business corporations with influence across borders. It said algorithms, which are sequences of instructions, have human interventions to personalise content & influence opinions.

Covaxin potent against beta, delta variants

Researchers find this vaccine provides significant protection against both variants which are now global health concerns

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

COVAXIN offers significant protection against both beta and delta variants of the SARS-CoV-2 virus, according to a new study.

Both these variants of the coronavirus have emerged as a global health concern with Delta being the most dominant strain in various countries and associated with very high transmissibility, severe disease and also potential immune escape properties.

The massive Covid second wave in India, scientists have established, was largely driven by a delta variant, first originated in Maharashtra before it spread out across the country.

In the latest study published in the Journal of Travel Medicine, researchers associated with ICMR and Bharat Biotech examined blood samples from 20 people who had recovered from Covid as well as 17 of those who received Covaxin.

The researchers assessed the ability of these samples to neutralise the beta and delta variants and found that the vaccine conferred significant protection against both variants.

The study said that the potential immune escape properties of beta and delta variants has been a serious concern for the Covid vaccination programme, since it has shown reduced neutralisation to several vaccines.

Previously, the Covaxin neutralisation potential was already studied by the team with the alpha, zeta and kappa variants and the vaccine was found to be effective against these variants.

As part of the scientific exercise, the researchers assessed the neutralisation of blood samples from 20 Covid recovered people between 5 to 20 weeks after infection. In addition, blood samples from 17 vaccine recipients collected 28 days after two doses of Covaxin were also assessed against beta and delta variants.

Among the recovered cases, three were infected with kappa lineage, while 17 were infected with delta variant. The team carried out the plaque reduction neutralisation test, which is used to quantify the concentration of neutralising antibodies for a pathogen. "Our study demonstrated that despite a reduction in neutralization titers with BBV152 (Covaxin) vaccinees' sera against beta and delta variants, its neutralisation potential is well established," the authors said.

Efficacy against other variants studied earlier

Apart from the two variants, the Covaxin neutralisation potential was already studied by the team with alpha, zeta and kappa variants. The indigenous vaccine was found to be effective against these variants as well.

Violence mars UP poll nominations, SP submits plaint

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

WIDESPREAD violence was reported on Thursday from various parts of Uttar Pradesh during the filing of nominations for the July 10 Block Pramukh polls.

Kannauj, Sitapur, Unnao, Bulandshahar, Pilibhit, Unnao, Jhansi, Basti, Gorakhpur, Sambhal, Chitrakoot, Jalaun, Ayodhya, Fatehpur, Etah, Ambedkar Nagar and Maharajganj districts reported clashes.

SP chief Akhilesh Yadav alleged that the law and order was held hostage by the BJP. SP state president Naresh Uttam Patel submitted a memorandum at the poll panel, alleging large scale violence by BJP and failure of local administration and police in stopping the violence.

In Sitapur an independent candidate was allegedly stopped from filing nominations amid firing and lobbing of crude bombs in the presence of the police, which resulted in injuries to three persons.

Alleging violence by the BJP, the candidate's supporters blocked the highway following which the police used batons to disperse the protesters.

In Kannauj, the ruling BJP and opposition SP workers clashed with reports of stone pelting and firing. Similar scenes played out at Unnao district. In Kanpur Dehat, a panchayat member backed by the SP claimed being assaulted by BJP workers.

In Ambedkar Nagar, some miscreants snatched the nomination papers from former BSP minister Lalji Varma leading to violent clashes. "It is BJP leader Tejaswi Jaiswal who snatched the papers which led to tension and clashes," claimed Varma.

Incidents of some people brandishing firearms and tearing the nomination papers of rivals were reported from Shahjahanpur, Ambedkar Nagar and Basti. In Siddharthnagar, the SP claimed former Assembly Speaker Mata Prasad Pandey was roughed up and his vehicle damaged by BJP supporters.

ED GRILLS KHADSE, NCP LEADER CLAIMS POLITICAL AGENDA

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) questioned NCP leader Eknath Khadse for nine hours about a case related to a Pune land deal on Thursday.

Khadse reached the ED office after a summons was issued to appear before the agency. Earlier Khadse's son-in-law Girish Chaudhari was arrested by the ED in a money laundering case in Pune.

Chaudhari and Khadse's wife Mandatai had purchased government land in Bhosari near Pune for ₹3 crore whereas the actual value was ₹31 crore, the ED said, adding that the land deal was allegedly routed through four shell companies.

The agency is probing the sources of the funds used to buy the land and also the undervaluation of the deal.

Khadse's lawyer said that his client told the ED that he has nothing to do with the Pune land. "The land was not purchased by him. Besides, as an erstwhile revenue minister also, it was not his subject so there was no violation done by him as minister. The ED had asked for some documents that will be provided in the next 10 days and as and when ED asks his personal appearance, Khadse will appear before them," he said.

Before reaching the ED office, Khadse termed the probe as 'politically motivated' saying the central agency was targeting him and his family members deliberately after his induction in the NCP. "A probe was earlier conducted by a commission, which gave a clean chit. Despite this, the ED is probing the case. It shows there is some political agenda behind it. However, the truth will come out."

NCP minister Jayant Patil claimed that the ED inquiry is a farce. "In the earlier probe, nothing wrong was found out. We are confident that Khadse has not done anything wrong. BJP is against the OBC leaders therefore they are targeting Khadse," the NCP state president alleged.

China not observing border agreements has strained relation: Jaishankar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Thursday said that Beijing not observing agreements has led to the disturbance of the foundation of India-China ties.

"I would say for the last 40 years we had a very stable relation with Beijing. China emerged as the second largest trade partner. But for the last one year, there has been a lot of concern about the relationship because China has not observed agreements that it had signed up to when it came to our border," the minister said in response to a question on China-India relations at the Primakov Institute of World Economy & International Relations in Moscow.

Jaishankar arrived in Moscow for a three-day visit and is expected to hold bilateral talks with his counterpart Sergey Lavrov later in the day. The leaders will discuss bilateral issues and the deteriorating Afghan situation following the US departure of US troops.

On a question on the possibility of nuclear arms race between the two countries, Jaishankar dismissed it saying the evolution of the Chinese nuclear program has a much larger dynamic than India. "I don't believe there is a nuclear arms race between India and China. China became a nuclear power in 1964, India in 1998."

On relations with Russia, Jaishankar said that there is no doubt that relations between the two countries was among the steadiest of the major relationships in the world after the Second World War. "Russians will surely recall the ups and downs in their ties with the United States, Europe, China or Japan, or for that matter, Turkey and Iran. On their part, objective Indians would also recognize that this was the case with them as well," he said. "Where the India-Russia bilateral ties are concerned, there have been changes — even issues — from time to time. The paradox though is that precisely because it has held so steady, this relationship is sometimes taken for granted. The case for its constant nurturing is therefore as powerful, if not more, than with the more volatile ones."

India, Iran discuss situation in Afghanistan

Jaishankar discussed the Afghanistan situation with the Iranian leadership during a stopover in Tehran en route Moscow. "The two sides exchanged views on regional and global issues of mutual interest. They also discussed the evolving situation in Afghanistan... Both sides discussed joint connectivity initiatives in the region including Chabahar," the MEA said.

OIC meets India envoy, seeks to send team to see J&K scene

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Secretary general of the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC), a 57-member grouping, sought to send a delegation to Jammu and Kashmir and raised issues concerning the situation of Muslims in India, in a meeting with India's Ambassador to Saudi Arabia. The rare meeting between an Indian diplomat and an OIC secretary general was held on July 5 in Saudi Arabia's port city of Jeddah.

"The Secretary General welcomed Ambassador Ausaf Sayeed and reviewed with him a number of issues concerning the situation of Muslims in India, along with the Jammu and Kashmir dispute, and relevant UN and OIC resolutions opposing any unilateral actions on the issue," a statement from the OIC noted.

MEA spokesperson Arindham Bagchi said the meeting was held on the request of the Islamic bloc. "A wide range of issues was discussed. Our ambassador conveyed the need to correct some of the misperceptions about India that are being perpetrated by the vested interests in the OIC," he said.

Ambassador Sayeed told the OIC to ensure that its platform is not used by those with vested interest to make comments on India's internal affairs or to spread anti-India propaganda through biased and one-sided resolutions, Bagchi said.

India has maintained that the OIC has no locus standi on Kashmir, and had, in the past, called out the grouping for making unwarranted references to India in its resolutions.

The court allowed the state's ACB to take voice samples of the Union minister as well as of the alleged middleman Sanjay Jain.

Virbhadra's death changes Himachal politics

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FORMER Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister and Congress veteran Virbhadra Singh died on Thursday morning in Shimla due to post-Covid complications. He was 87.

On April 12, after testing positive for the virus, he was shifted from Shimla to Max Hospital in Mohali. He recovered and was discharged but had to be hospitalised again on April 30. On July 5, his oxygen saturation level dipped and he was put on ventilator. After a three-month battle with the infection, he passed away at Indira Gandhi Medical College Hospital.

A six-time CM, Singh belonged to the erstwhile royal family of Bushair in Rampur. He was also a sitting MLA from Arki in Solan district.

Virbhadra is survived by wife Pratibha, a two-time MP from Mandi, son Vikramaditya who is an MLA from Shimla (Rural) and two daughters.

The state government has declared mourning for three days as a mark of respect. All state government offices, including boards, corporations and autonomous institutions, except for those dealing with essential services will remain closed.

Virbhadra's mortal remains have been kept at his house in lower Jakhu area of Shimla for the public to pay their last respects. On Saturday, the body will be kept in the state Congress office before being taken to Rampur, where the cremation will take place on Saturday.

Virbhadra became a Lok Sabha MP when he was 28 in 1962. He won nine Assembly, five Lok Sabha elections and had worked with Prime Ministers Jawahar Lal Nehru, Indira Gandhi, Rajiv Gandhi, Narasimha Rao and Manmohan Singh in various capacities. His death left behind a big vacuum in the state Congress. No other party leader enjoys the kind of mass appeal he did.

PM Narendra Modi, Himachal CM Jai Ram Thakur and BJP chief JP Nadda expressed grief at Virbhadra's death. Punjab CM Amarinder Singh remembered him as an elder brother.

Wait for MPs from Vindhya continues for Team Modi

Seven years after Modi came to power at the Centre, the Vindhya region which neighbours UP, is yet to see any of its BJP MPs become a Union minister. Out of the present five ministers hailing from MP, Virender Kumar and Prahlad Patel are from Bundelkhand, while Jyotiraditya Scindia and Narendra Singh Tomar from Gwalior-Chambal. The fifth, Faggan Singh Kulaste, is from Mahakoshal. Outgoing minister Thawar Chand Gehlot, who was appointed the Karnataka Governor, is from Malwa-Nimar region. But none of the Lok Sabha members, including four-time MP from Satna seat Ganesh Singh (a Patel caste leader), Janaradan Mishra (two-time MP from Rewa) and Riti Patak (two-time MP from Sidhi) got a call for the Cabinet, despite the BJP sweeping both the 2018 Assembly and the 2019 Lok Sabha polls in Vindhya.

Oxygen concentrators gifted to newly-wed

The pandemic has changed the dynamics of fat Indian weddings, including the patterns of gifts for the bride and groom. Monika Goyal got married to Maharashtra's Ankit Bajoria recently in Ujjain. The couple took a vow to plant 11,000 peepal and banyan saplings to make the environment clean. They got two oxygen concentrators worth ₹1.40 lakh as a gift from Monika's father Sudhir Goyal. "The concentrators will help the newly-wed couple to protect self and kin in Maharashta in case of the third wave as well as share the oxygen producing machines to save lives of others," the bride's father said.

US worried over reports of China nuke build-up

GENEVA

THE United States voiced deep concern on Thursday at reports that China is dramatically scaling up its nuclear arsenal, urging Beijing to engage in talks to avoid a global arms race."It is in everyone's interest that nuclear powers talk to one another directly about reducing nuclear dangers and avoiding miscalculation," Robert Wood, US ambassador to the Conference on Disarmament in Geneva, told reporters.

Last week, the Washington Post newspaper cited a study of satellite images that it said showed 119 silos for missiles were being built in a desert near the northwestern city of Yumen. The silos, according to the report, were similar to existing Chinese launch facilities for nuclear-tipped ballistic missiles.

Wood said it was of "great concern". "Until China sits down with the United States bilaterally, the risk of a devastating arms race will continue to increase, and that is in the interest of no-one," he said.

China, he said, claimed to be "a responsible nuclear power" with only a very small defensive arsenal. "But when we see a lot of what China has been doing, it runs counter to what it has been saying." Wood highlighted a range of new systems China was believed to be looking to develop, including missiles capable of hitting the United States. He said these kinds of systems had "great potential to change the entire dynamic of the global strategic stability situation". AFP

Four gunmen killed, 3 officers held hostage freed | Hunt under way for any other gunmen responsible for the pre-dawn raid on Moïse's home

People cheer as a police car drives past Petionville Police station where armed men, accused of being involved in the assassination of President Jovenel Moise, are being held in Port-au-Prince on Thursday | AFP

PORT-AU-PRINCE

AN ALREADY struggling and chaotic Haiti stumbled into an uncertain future Thursday after the assassination of President Jovenel Moïse, followed by a gunfight in which police killed seven suspects, detained six others, including a U.S. citizen, and freed three officers being held hostage.

A hunt was underway for any other gunmen responsible for the predawn raid on Moïse's home early Wednesday in which the president was shot to death and his wife, Martine, critically wounded. She was flown to Miami for treatment.

Mathias Pierre, Haiti's elections minister, told The Associated Press that one of the suspects in custody was James Solages, a Haitian-American.

"The pursuit of the mercenaries continues," Léon Charles, director of Haiti's National Police, said Wednesday night in announcing the arrest of suspects. "Their fate is fixed: They will fall in the fighting or will be arrested." Witnesses said two of the suspects were discovered hiding in bushes in Port-au-Prince on Thursday by a crowd, some of whom grabbed the men by their shirts and pants, pushing them and occasionally slapping them.

Police arrived shortly afterward to arrest the men, who were sweating heavily and wearing clothes that seemed to be smeared with mud, an Associated Press journalist at the scene said. Officers placed them in the back of a pickup truck and drove away as the crowd ran after them to the nearby police station.

Once there, some in the crowd chanted: "They killed the president! Give them to us. We're going to burn them!" One man was overheard saying that it was unacceptable for foreigners to come to Haiti to kill the country's leader, referring to reports from officials that the perpetrators spoke Spanish or English.

At a news conference Thursday, Charles, the police chief, asked people to stay calm, go home and let police do their work as he warned that authorities needed evidence they were destroying, including the burned cars. Officials did not provide any details about the suspects, including their nationalities, nor did they address a motive or say what led police to them. AP

Blast at port rocks Dubai, investigation launched

Dubai: An explosion inside a container on a ship docked at the Dubai port caused a massive fire on the vessel and shook the gleaming commercial hub of the UAE, authorities said on Thursday. The blast occurred in the container aboard the vessel, preparing to dock away from the Jebel Ali Port's main shipping line at around midnight on Wednesday. There were no reported deaths or injuries and the fire is under control, authorities said. "A fire has been reported to have broken out in a container within a ship anchored in Jebel Ali Port. A Dubai Civil Defence team is working to put out the blaze," Dubai Media Office said in a tweet on their official account. Director-General of Dubai Civil Defence Major General Rashid Thani Al Matrooshi said the Jebel Ali Port fire has been brought fully under control and the cooling process is under way. AFP

US President Joe Biden speaks about the situation in Afghanistan from the East Room of the White House on Thursday | AFP

'Taliban takeover not inevitable'

Joe Biden expressed confidence in the Afghan military and said a Taliban takeover of the country is not inevitable. "I do not trust the Taliban," he said, "but I trust the capacity of the Afghan military." Asked if a Taliban takeover was "inevitable," the president said "No, it is not."

Biden: US military mission in Afghanistan to end on August 31

WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden on Thursday said the US military mission in Afghanistan will conclude on August 31, saying "speed is safety" as the United States seeks to end the nearly 20-year war.

"We did not go to Afghanistan to nation build," Biden said in a speech to update his administration's ongoing efforts to wind down the US war in Afghanistan. "Afghan leaders have to come together and drive toward a future."

Biden also amplified the justification of his decision to end US military operations even as the Taliban make rapid advances in significant swaths of the country.

The effort to further explain his thinking on Afghanistan comes as the administration in recent days has repeatedly sought to frame ending the conflict as a decision that Biden made after concluding it's an "unwinnable war" and one that "does not have a military solution."

"How many more, how many more thousands of American daughters and sons are you willing to risk?" Biden said to those calling for the US to extend the military operation.

He added, "I will not send another generation of Americans to war in Afghanistan, with no reasonable expectation of achieving a different outcome."

Biden said he didn't trust the Taliban but trusted the capacity of the Afghan military to defend the government.

Before his speech, White House press secretary Jen Psaki said Biden administration officials always anticipated an "uptick" in violence and greater turmoil as the US withdrawal moved forward. She added that prolonging US military involvement would have led to an escalation of attacks on US troops.

Biden said it was "highly unlikely" that one government will control Afghanistan after the US pullout, and urged the Afghan government to reach a deal with the Taliban.

The president added that there is no "mission accomplished" moment as the US war comes to an end.

"The mission was accomplished in that we got Osama bin Laden and terrorism is not emanating from that part of the world," he said. AP

Civil groups protest 'homophobic' law

Budapest: Hungarian civil organisations protested an anti-paedophilia bill that came into force on Thursday as "homophobic". Introduced by Prime Minister Viktor Orban's ruling Fidesz party, the law was originally aimed at toughening punishments for child abuse. But late modifications included a ban on the "display or promotion" of homosexuality and gender reassignment to under-18s.

Cairn gets nod to seize 20 India assets in Paris

A French court allowed seizure of properties worth 20mn euros to recover part of $1.7-bn arbitration award

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

A French court has allowed Cairn Energy to seize 20 Indian state-owned properties in Paris to force the government to pay $1.7 billion awarded by an international tribunal over a tax dispute.

The court order involves some prime properties belonging to the Indian government, which are valued at more than 20 million euros, as part of a guarantee of the amount payable to Cairn.

This is part of the Cairn Energy's larger efforts to recover the arbitral award, which the Indian government has been contesting.

Last month Cairn had filed a petition with the courts in the Southern District of New York, seeking judicial confirmation that Air India, the national carrier, can be classed as the alter ego of the Indian government and thereby made jointly liable for the arbitral award.

The arbitration award has been registered in many other jurisdictions, including the US, UK, Canada, Singapore, Mauritius, France and the Netherlands.

"Our strong preference remains an agreed, amicable settlement with the government of India to draw this matter to a close, and to that end we have submitted a detailed series of proposals to them since February this year. However, in the absence of such a settlement, Cairn must take all necessary legal actions to protect the interests of its international shareholders," Cairn said in an official statement.

Reacting to the development, finance ministry said that it has not yet received any notice or communication in this regard. "Government of India has not received any notice, order or communication, in this regard, from any French court. Government is trying to ascertain the facts, and whenever such an order is received, appropriate legal remedies will be taken, in consultation with its counsels, to protect the interests of India," finance ministry said in a statement issued on Thursday.

Officials added that they have already filed appeal against the arbitration.

"The government has already filed an application on March 22, 2021 to set aside the December 2020 international arbitral award in The Hague Court of Appeal. Government of India will vigorously defend its case in set aside proceedings at The Hague," Finance Ministry added.

LEGAL TANGLE

- The move is part of the Cairn Energy's efforts to recover the $1.7-billion international arbitration award it won against India's tax levy
- The French court order involves properties of the Indian government valued at more than 20 million euros
- Cairn had already filed a petition with a US court, seeking seizure of Air India's asset in that country

Can Zomato shift food consumption demography?

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

With a mere 8-9% restaurant penetration in India, compared to 53% in China and 35% in the US, food delivery player Zomato is aiming to change the food consumption demography in India. But with losses as much as ₹812 crore the Gurgaon-based firm reported during FY21, would it be able to meet the rising appetitive of retail/ institutional investors of Indian markets? Another point of worry is the almost 25% drop in revenues for the food aggregator for FY21 at ₹1,994 crore from ₹2,605 crore a year ago.

According to Zomato co-founder, Gaurav Gupta, the revenues of the company have been on a rise, the cash burns have gone down , so profitability will come without giving an indicative timeline.

He said that over the last three-four years, due to the kind of investments from private equity players, the business has scaled 10x. Covid did hit the food delivery business during Q1 of FY21 due to the fears of surface transmission of the virus with GOV dropping to $149 million, only to rebound to $481 million and $406 million duringQ3 and Q4 respectively.

Dismissing the fears of analysts of whether an average Indian investor is ready to bet on loss making firms like Zomato, chief financial officer Akshant Goyal said that post the IPO the company expects to have a healthy cash flow of ₹15,000 crore or $2 billion. The company has advanced its public listing by almost a week to open on stock exchanges on July 14 at a price band of ₹72-76 per share and increased the issue size by 20% to ₹9,375 crore from ₹7,500 crore. This is due to enormous interest shown by institutional investors from US, UK, Europe as well as Asia during our anchor investors' roadshow," he added.

The company has received interest from over 300 big funds/ investors from overseas as well as India and the top management doesn't think that a valuation of ₹64,365 crore, (nearly $9 billion) from $5.4 billion during the last funds raise is over-estimated.

"The valuation is based on the investor sentiments we have seen during the roadshow for large companies that have emerged as category leaders and enjoy disproportionate market shares, adopting technology which has resonated well with the investors," Gupta added.

ZOMATO'S MEGA IPO

WHATS ON THE TABLE?

- ₹9,375 crore — IPO
- ₹9,000 crore — Fresh issue
- ₹375 crore — Offer for sale
- Offer period: July14-July16

TCS incurs ₹350-cr loss in India biz amid Covid

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

Both the drag in Indian markets as well as compensation hikes of the employees has led to a drop in the Consolidated net profit by 2.5% in constant currency terms for the Q1, FY21 at ₹9,008 crore. from ₹9,246 crore in March quarter. AUTO SALES UP 23% IN JUNE, BUT BELOW PRE-COVID LEVELS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Despite year-on-year recovery, retail automobile sales in June 2021 are well below than a normal pre-Covid month. According to vehicle registration data released by dealer association body Fada, total retail vehicle sales in June 2021 grew by 23% to 12,17,151 units as against 9,92,610 units sold during lockdown-infused June 2020. However, sales in June 2021 was 28% lower than June 2019, the pre-Covid month, when the same stood at 16,98,005 units.

"The month of June witnessed re-opening for most of the states except the ones in South. Due to this, the industry witnessed a high pent up demand which was stuck in the system because of statewide lockdowns," said FADA President Vinkesh Gulati.

Gulati added passenger vehicles(PVs) saw good demand as customers continued to show keenness in vehicles for observing social distancing and safety of their families. Two-wheeler sales, though in green, has witnessed a softer recovery as rural market is taking time to get back from post-Covid stress.

According to data, retail PV sales increased 45% YoY in June 2021 to 1,84,134 units while two-wheeler sales grew by 17% to 9,30,324 units.

When compared with June 2019 data, PV sales and 2W sales fell 10% and 30%, respectively.

Commenting on the near term outlook, Fada sees positive momentum from June 2021 carry forwards to July 2021. "With southern India opening up, we can expect further pickup in demand. On a longer term, auto Industry is yet to see retail numbers comparable to FY19," the association said.

However, global semi-conductor shortage will continue to impact demand – supply mis-match and may restrict the growth of PVs.

₹37,050-cr I-T refunds issued in this fiscal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

The Income Tax department said it has issued refunds worth ₹37,050 crore in this financial year to about 17.92 lakh taxpayers, however technical glitches in the newly designed website is delaying processing of returns which are being filed.

Of this, personal income tax refund stood at ₹10,408 crore, while that of corporates was ₹26,642 crore.

"CBDT issues refunds of over ₹37,050 crore to more than 17.92 lakh taxpayers between 1st April 2021 to 5th July 2021. Income tax refunds of ₹10,408 crore have been issued in 16,89,063 cases & corporate tax refunds of ₹26,642 crore have been issued in 1,03,088 cases," the I-T department tweeted.

The vendor Infosys is working on fixing the problems related to the website.

Officials claim that if the problem is not fixed on time, they have to allow the manual filing of return.

RBI: Banks must shift from LIBOR before Dec 31

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Indian banks and financial institutions have been advised to use any widely accepted alternative reference rate (AAR) instead of the global benchmark for borrowings — LIBOR (London Interbank Offered Rates) — as the reference rate for entering into new financial contracts as soon as practicable and in any case by December 31, 2021.

The repetitive directive follows a decision of the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA), UK which on March 5, 2021 had announced that all LIBOR settings would either cease to be provided by any administrator or would no longer be representative after end-2021. Since then, the market has been developing alternate ways, such as the use of risk-free reference rates that will replace the use of LIBOR. For instance, Secured overnight financing rate (SOFR) is being widely used as a substitute for Libor in dollar-denominated loans and derivatives globally.

The global transition away from LIBOR is widely regarded as one of the biggest challenges faced in the financial industry. The central bank has urged banks and other financial institutions to incorporate robust fallback clauses, preferably well before the cessation date, in all financial contracts that reference Libor where the maturity is after the announced cessation date of the benchmark. Banks should also ensure that new contracts entered into before December 31 but mature after the cessation date include fallback clauses.

DBS Bank sees sharp rise in bad loans post LVB merger, profit up at ₹312 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DBS Bank India (DBIL), the wholly-owned subsidiary of Singapore's DBS Bank, has seen a sharp rise in bad loans, with gross non-performing assets (NPAs) rising sharply to 12.93% in FY21 after the merger of Lakshmi Vilas Bank (LVB), from just 2.6% in March 2020. Net NPA rose to 2.83% at the end of March 2021 as against 0.47% in March 2020, with provision coverage ratio at 84%. Excluding the LVB portfolio, gross NPAs remained moderate at 1.83%.

"We have made considerable progress with the integration of Lakshmi Vilas Bank (LVB) since the amalgamation in November 2020 even with the dislocations due to the second wave of the pandemic. While, as expected, there has been an immediate impact on our financial results due to the high net NPAs and operating losses at LVB, we are confident of realising the long-term prospects of the combined franchise," said Surojit Shome, MD and CEO, DBS Bank India.

However, the lender has been able to register a near three-fold rise in net profit to ₹312 crore for the year ended March 2021 (FY21), up from ₹111 crore in FY20. During the year under review, net revenues grew 85% to ₹2,673 crore (including ₹134 crore from LVB). Following the merger with the old age private sector bank, Shome said that the bank has already been able to revitalise the gold loan business and grow deposits.

DBS Bank India reported a 44% increase in the overall deposits to ₹ 51,051 crore, including ₹18,823 crore of it from LVB. Savings deposits grew 207%, current account was up 98% year on year.

CNG, piped cooking gas prices hiked in Delhi-NCR

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

While auto fuel prices have been on a steep rise all through last year, it is now the turn of compressed natural gas (CNG) to embark on an upward march.

On Thursday, gas companies hiked the rates of CNG and piped cooking gas in the national capital region and analysts say that the trend of rising gas prices is likely to send CNG prices even higher over the next few months.

Indraprastha Gas Ltd (IGL) raised CNG price by 90 paise per kg and cooking gas by ₹1.25 per standard cubic metre. "CNG retail price in Delhi stands revised from Rs 43.40/kg to ₹44.30/kg w.e.f 6 am on 8th July 2021," IGL said in a tweet. In neighbouring Noida, Greater Noida and Ghaziabad, CNG price has been hiked to ₹49.98 per kg from ₹49.08. Rates differ from state to state due to local taxes. Piped natural gas (PNG) rates in Delhi, meanwhile, was increased by ₹1.25 per scm to ₹29.66 per scm, and to ₹29.61 in Noida, Greater Noida and Ghaziabad.

A report from Motilal Oswal released on Monday said that CNG firms are set to face their "steepest uphill battle ever" due to the expected price hike. For gas manufacturers, the past few quarters have presented favourable conditions which are now likely to change.

Nadal set to return in Washington meet

Rafael Nadal will return to competition by making his debut at the hard-court tournament in Washington. The Citi Open announced on Thursday that the 20-time Grand Slam champ is in the field for the July 31 to August 8 event that serves as a U.S. Open tuneup. Nadal has not played since his loss to Novak Djokovic in the semifinals of the French Open last month.

England players celebrate with captain Harry Kane, who scored the winning goal against Denmark at the Wembley | AP

THE ROAR GETS LOUDER

Three Lions set up title clash with Italy after overcoming spirited Denmark in extra time for first final appearance in 55 years

AFP @ London

ENGLAND will play in their first major tournament final for 55 years after coming from behind to beat Denmark 2-1 in extra time in front of a delirious 65,000 crowd at the Wembley Stadium in Wednesday's Euro 2020 semifinal.

Mikkel Damsgaard's stunning free-kick after 30 minutes threatened another semi-final disappointment for Gareth Southgate's side, three years on from losing in the last four of the World Cup. But Simon Kjaer's own goal levelled before half-time and a controversial penalty proved decisive when Harry Kane scored on the rebound after his initial effort was saved by Kasper Schmeichel. England will attempt to win the European Championship for the first time when they face Italy back at Wembley in Sunday's final.

MATCH STATS

England		Denmark
2	Goals	1
21	Attempts	6
10	On Target	3
3	Blocked	1
6	Corners	5
58	Possession	42
760	Passes attempted	547
670	Passes completed	451

"For once it fell our way," said Kane. "We responded really well after falling 1-0 down but we controlled the game. First time in our history to get through to the European final and at Wembley, it is one of the proudest moments of my life for sure."

Defeat ends Denmark's fairytale run to the semi-finals, the furthest they have been at a tournament since winning Euro 92. The Danes' tournament began in nearly-tragic circumstances when star midfielder Christian Eriksen suffered a cardiac arrest in their opening game against Finland. Kasper Hjulmand's men have since ridden an emotional wave.

In a first, Tokyo Olympics to be a closed-door event

ASSOCIATED PRESS @ Tokyo

FANS were banned from the pandemic-postponed Tokyo Olympics which will open in two weeks, Tokyo Governor Yuriko Koike said after meeting with IOC and Japanese organisers on Thursday. The ban came hours after a state of emergency in the capital starting from Monday, declared by Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga to contain rising Covid-19 cases.

The twin decisions have turned Olympics into a made-for-TV event in a decision pushed by the Japanese government and supported by the International Olympic Committee. "Many people were looking forward to watching the games at the venues, but I would like everyone to fully enjoy watching the games on TV at home," Koike said after the meeting.

'Restrictions unfair... but time to face the situation & come back with glory'

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

THE Indian Olympic Association (IOA) is still waiting for some more clarity on the restrictions the Tokyo 2020 organising committee has imposed on those travelling from India, especially the athletes. IOA president Narinder Batra said whatever restrictions the organisers have listed out for those travelling from India remain and there would be more clarity during the Chef de Mission meeting on Friday.

The good thing is athletes will be allowed to train. But since Indian athletes travelling from home won't be allowed to train with athletes from other National Olympic committees (NOCs) Batra said they would not be allowed to play practice matches against other countries. "When our athletes reach Tokyo, I always feel that it will be unfair for Indians or other 10 countries' athletes because while other athletes are playing and practicing, ours will not be doing what they are actually supposed to do," he said. "This is the time when athletes peak and if you are putting them in the backburner for three days, it's not good.

"I don't think this has been done by the organising committee but it's come from the government of Japan. Our athletes and all of us are mentally prepared for it. We have requested for a three-day early arrival (on July 14; not granted). Team will definitely leave by July 17 because there are medical protocols to follow and we don't want to miss out on these."

"The main concern right now is where do our athletes get the food and how do they eat the food. That's the main concern and we are having a discussion on Friday during the Chef de Mission meeting (DRM) and they have said that they would clarify during the meeting. I hope these things get sorted out because athletes need so much quantity of protein or calcium or carbohydrate... we just cannot have just food packets served in rooms devoid of all these things."

"I still say this is unfair for the 11 countries which goes against OIympism where every athletes get level playing field and these 11 countries are not getting any level-playing field. I'm upset but you have to respect the law of the land also. It's not the time to complain but go out there and face the situation and come back with glory."

Pliskova to meet Barty in Big W final

AFP @ London

KAROLINA Pliskova of the Czech Republic will play Australia's Ashleigh Barty in Saturday's Wimbledon final after both players reached the championship match for the first time on Thursday. Pliskova showed great resilience in coming from behind to beat second seed Aryna Sabalenka 5-7, 6-4, 6-4. It was a rare feat by Pliskova as in the previous 33 semifinals only two players had reached the final after losing the first set.

World number one Barty earlier defeated Angelique Kerber 6-3, 7-6 (7/3) in her semifinal. Barty — who won the junior title in 2011 — said she cannot put an age on when she dared to dream of winning Wimbledon. "I think once you start playing more tennis when you're younger, start understanding what is in the world of tennis, I think you dare to dream," she said.

Days ahead of Ind series, Flower is Covid positive

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

IN a development that could threaten to disrupt the upcoming Sri Lanka-India limited-overs series, Grant Flower, batting coach of the home side, tested positive for Covid-19 on Thursday. Flower has been shifted to an intermediate care centre outside the bio-bubble. The series starts with the first ODI in Colombo on July 13.

"Yes, (Grant) Flower tested Covid positive. He was immediately shifted to an intermediate care centre outside the bio-bubble. Others from the Sri Lankan squad were made to undergo antigen tests and all of them have returned negative," Mohan de Silva, secretary of Sri Lanka Cricket (SLC), told this daily.

Speaking on the plan which was put in place after the batting coach returned positive, he said: "We will conduct antigen tests every three days from now on. We are quite sure that our players will not get infected as all of them are vaccinated."

Apart from creating a bio-bubble in a Colombo hotel for players and support staff returning from England, the SLC has also set up a separate bubble in another hotel in the city. Around a dozen of players, who were not part of the squad that travelled to England for the white ball series, are said to be staying in the bubble.

The cricket board is planning to rope in a few players from that bubble if it is forced to, given the evolving situation due to the infection. "If the need arises, we will use players from another bubble," confirmed the SLC secretary. Sources in Colombo also said the series against India will go ahead despite a prominent member of the squad contracting virus.

Dutch sailor Abel Tasman sets forth to find the eighth continent in the southern hemisphere

- Europeans had named the hidden continent: Terra Australis
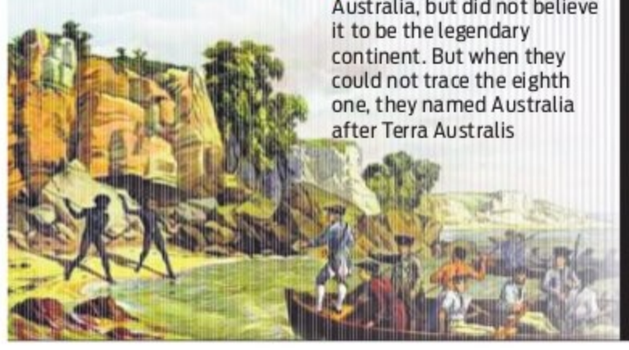
- After a circuitous journey from Jakarta, Indonesia, Tasman reaches an island where he met the indigenous Maori people
- Unknown to him, he had discovered New Zealand
- His experience with the Maori was so disturbing that Tasman named the rendezvous point as MurderersBay
- He also named an island after his sponsor Van Diemen; the name was changed to Tasmania in 1856
- Europeans knew about Australia, but did not believe it to be the legendary continent. But when they could not trace the eighth one, they named Australia after Terra Australis



In 2017, geologists claimed to have discovered Zealandia

4.9 Million sq km in area

6 Times the size of Madagascar

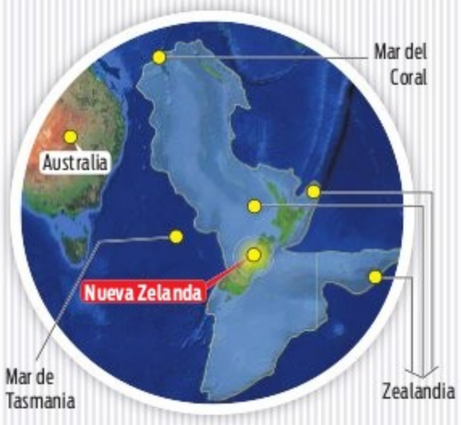
94% Underwater

6,560 ft or 2km Underwater

EXFILE • HISTORY

The quest for Zealandia

Geologists in 2017 claimed to have discovered the elusive eighth continent after nearly 400 years of search. It's a discovery that can well rewrite geography textbooks. Let's explore



Over a century after Tasman discovered New Zealand in 1642, British cartographer James Cook (right) was sent on a scientific voyage to the southern hemisphere

His official instructions: Observe the passing of Venus between the Earth and the Sun, in order to calculate how far away the Sun is

His secret mission: Discover the southern continent

BUT THE CONTINENT REMAINED HIDDEN

In 1995, American geophysicist B Luyendyk speculated that the landmass underwater can be called a continent and suggested a name: Zealandia

ZEALANDIA COMPRISES

- Island of New Caledonia
- Australian territories of Lord Howe Island and Ball's Pyramid

1. Zealandia was originally part of the ancient supercontinent of Gondwana, which was formed about 550 million years ago
2. Around 105 million years ago, Zealandia started pulling away
3. Usually, the continental crust is around 40km deep, while oceanic crust is hardly 10km. As Zealandia was strained, it ended up with a crust now only 20km deep. That's why it sank and disappeared under the sea

GONDWANA

Gondwana is believed to have been a supercontinent that existed about 550 million years ago. Geologists believe all modern-day continents were lumped together in this super continent. Around 180 million years ago, the continents separated, with the final act being South America separating from Antarctica

The name Gondwana means land of the Gonds

Gonds are a tribe in India

They live in modern-day Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Odisha and Andhra Pradesh

In the 1960s, geologists agreed on a definition of what a continent is ● A geological area with a high elevation ● Wide variety of rocks ● A big piece of land with thick crust

$1 bn fine slapped on German auto giants

EU authority found Volkswagen, BMW colluded not to develop anti-pollution tech; VW loses 'dieselgate' suit, too

TECH

BRUSSELS/ROME: The EU's antitrust authority on Thursday fined German auto giants Volkswagen and BMW 875 million euros for colluding on the development of anti-pollution technology for diesel cars. Launched after anti-cartel raids in 2017, the case marked yet another blow against the German auto-making sector, which was rocked by the devastating "dieselgate" emissions cheating scandal that broke in 2015.

The case found that while the car giants had not formed a formal cartel, they had made illegal agreements to limit the introduction of "AdBlue" or urea to diesel engine exhaust gases, reducing its effectiveness as a way to produce cleaner emissions. Daimler, which alerted the European Commission to the issue, was spared a fine. "Today's case is about how legitimate cooperation has gone wrong. Carmakers had developed a very good technology, but decided not to compete to exploit it to its full potential," EU competition chief Margrethe Vestager told reporters.

"Instead, they decided to collude by indicating to each other that none of them would aim at cleaning above the minimum standards required by law," Vestager added.

Volkswagen's admission to manipulating 11 million vehicles worldwide to appear less polluting unleashed a wave of anger at the auto industry, and Brussels launched an in-depth cartel investigation into the three companies. In a statement, BMW stressed the EU had dropped earlier allegations that the auto giants colluded on putting off cleaner particulate filters for petrol cars.

It also accused the European Commission of entering "uncharted territory for antitrust law" with its decision as it had failed to prove the existence of a price-fixing cartel, but inflicted fines in any case.

The commission's biggest-ever fine of 2.93 billion euros was handed to Europe's top truck makers, including Daimler, in 2016 for colluding over 14 years to fix prices and dodge the costs of stricter rules.

A Venice court has ordered Volkswagen to compensate over 63,000 Italian customers over the "dieselgate" emissions cheating scandal in a settlement worth more than 200 million euros, a consumers' association announced.

In a statement issued late on Wednesday, the Altroconsumo group said it had secured a "historic" victory in its class action lawsuit against the German car giant. The court ruled that "3,300 euros (plus interest) will go to each of the more than 63,000 consumers who joined our class action" after buying vehicle models involved in the scandal, it said.

Revelations in 2015 that Volkswagen had installed devices in 11 million diesel vehicles worldwide to falsify pollution tests plunged the company into a deep crisis. The scandal has so far cost the German car giant more than 32 billion euros in fines, legal costs and compensation and has since ensnared many more of Europe's top automakers.

There was no immediate comment from Volkswagen.

Neanderthals had creative capacity?

HISTORY

PARIS: The design may be simple, but a chevron pattern etched onto a deer bone more than 50,000 years ago suggests that Neanderthals had their own artistic tradition before modern humans arrived on the scene, researchers said Monday. The engraving, discovered at a German cave where Neanderthals lived tens of thousands of years ago, has no obvious utility according to researchers who say the artifact sheds new light on the ill-fated species' capacity for creativity.

The vast majority of Stone-Age artworks discovered in Europe are attributed to Homo sapiens and experts have long suggested that Neanderthals, among our closest relatives, only began creating symbolic objects after mixing with them. But using radiocarbon dating, archaeologists determined the recently-unearthed artifact to be at least 51,000 years old -- pre-dating the arrival of Homo sapiens in central Europe by some 10,000 years, according to the research published in the journal Nature Ecology and Evolution.

"The cultural influence of H. sapiens as the single explanatory factor for abstract cultural expressions in Neanderthals can no longer be sustained," the study says. Dirk Leder, one of the authors and a researcher at the Lower Saxony Office for Heritage Department of Archaeology, told AFP that the bone clearly represents a means of expression.

"We are very convinced that communicates an idea, a story, something meaningful to a group," he said. The carved fossil was found at a well-known archaeological site called Einhornhoehle, or Unicorn Cave. Located in the mountains of central Germany, treasure hunters searched there as early as the Middle Ages for what they believed to be unicorn fossils. It was in the 1980s that scientists first found evidence of an Ice Age Neanderthal settlement at Einhornhoehle and the new bone is from a dig under a collapsed entrance to the cave where artifacts were discovered in 2017.

The bone, from the foot of a rare extinct giant deer, is about half the size of a deck of playing cards (about 5.5 cm long, 4 cm wide) and three cm thick.

Picasso kept in closet sold

ART

A mixed-media painting attributed to Pablo Picasso has been sold after spending 50 years in a closet in a house in Maine. John McInnis Auctioneers, based in Massachusetts, confirmed that the painting entitled "Le Tricorne" sold on Saturday, the Boston Globe reported. The 16 x 16 inch (40 x 40 centimeter) painting is signed and dated in the year 1919. It is believed to be a study for the stage curtain Picasso painted for a ballet of the same name that debuted that year in London, according to the New-York Historical Society. That curtain has been on display at the historical society in New York City since 2015. The website liveauctioneers.com reported the sale price of the painting was $150,000, plus a 24% buyer's premium. Neither the buyer nor the seller was named by the auctioneers.

Major threat to Windows 10

TECH

Microsoft has urged Windows users to install a security update immediately before their personal information is seriously compromised. The tech giant found a serious vulnerability in its operating system that could let hackers install programs, view and delete data or even create new user accounts. The vulnerability, known as PrintNightmare, is within Windows Print Spooler, a software programme that runs by default on Windows. Windows Print Spooler helps your computer interact with the printer and manages all print jobs in your queue. All versions of Windows are vulnerable, according to Microsoft, including its most recent major release, Windows 10. Microsoft detailed the flaw in its security update guide along with guidance on how Windows users can protect their system.

Study reiterates efficacy of trees

CONSERVATION

Planting 20% more trees throughout Europe would not only help stave off the effects of climate change, but it would also boost the continent's rainfall too, a new study suggests. Changes to land cover — by adding forests — can have a 'substantial' impact on the dry conditions that are associated with changing weather patterns, while also changing rainfall patterns by an average of 7.6% in the summer, researchers say. "We conclude that land-cover-induced alterations of precipitation should be considered when developing land-management strategies for climate change adaptation and mitigation," the authors wrote in the study published in Nature. Trees store carbon and an increase of this magnitude on the continent could remove a significant portion of the nearly 43 billion tons of carbon dioxide that humans emit annually. "Forestation-induced precipitation changes appear to be subject to spatial trade-offs due to downwind effects," the authors added.

JERUSALEM: Israel's parliament has hopped on latest trend in digital artwork and presented the country's new president with a digital copy of his father's signed oath of office from 38 years earlier.

The Knesset presented Isaac Herzog with the NFT ahead of his inauguration as Israel's 11th president on Wednesday. Non-fungible tokens — or NFTs — use a version of the encryption technology employed to secure cryptocurrencies to create one-of-a-kind digital objects. The technology provides digital creations a kind of certificate of authenticity, allowing ownership of something that could otherwise be replicated endlessly.

This encrypted digital artwork has have been sold for millions of dollars. The Knesset's Technology and Computing Division dug out the oath of office signed by former president Chaim Herzog from the parliamentary archives and created an encrypted digital image.

Worst of pandemic has only begun in Asia as Delta strain drives surge in cases

COVID

TOKYO: The global Covid-19 death toll has crossed four million, with the worst of the pandemic only just starting to hit some parts of the Asia-Pacific and cases rising again in the United States. The more infectious Delta virus variant is accelerating outbreaks, and while some nations have started easing restrictions, the WHO warned the world was at a "perilous point".

With fears growing about the spread of the virus, Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga announced on Thursday that the capital Tokyo will be under a state of emergency throughout the Olympics. "The more infectious Delta variant now accounts for around 30% of cases," Japan's virus response minister Yasutoshi Nishimura had said before the emergency announcement. The emergency will run until August 22.

South Korea, once considered a coronavirus response model, reported nearly 1,300 new infections on Thursday, the highest since the pandemic began. The surge has forced South Korean authorities to consider imposing the tightest restrictions, under which all public events would be banned. Elsewhere in Asia, Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh City has gone into lockdown.

But the worst of the Asian outbreaks is in Indonesia, which has become a global hotspot with death rates rising tenfold in a month to more than 1,000 on Wednesday.

Hospitals in the vast archipelago of 270 million have been pushed to the brink by the flood of coronavirus cases. The WHO announced on Wednesday that more than four million people have died from Covid-19, but cautioned that the figure was an underestimate of the true toll.
